A FEW years ago, Mrs. Pankhurst, trying to get votes for British women could be seen struggling in the arms of brawny, good-natured policemen, tearing her away from the entrance to the House of Commons.

Now Premier Baldwin tells the commons of his plan to let women vote of 21 years of age. Hitherto British women had to be older than men before they could vote.

Chinese Reply to Protest in Nanking Outrages is Considered Unsatisfactory

NOTE REACHES WASHINGTON AS CABINET MEETS

Answer Not Unsatisfactory Enough To Warrant Any Punitive Steps, Belief

KELLOGG ON VACATION

Action Not Likely To Be Taken Until His Return Next Week

Washington, April 15—The Chinese Nationalists' reply to the American demands growing out of the Nanking outrages reached the state department today.

Generally speaking, officials considered it "unsatisfactory"—although it is doubtful if it is unsatisfactory enough to impel the United States to take any punitive steps. It is considered here a very adroit answer to the American note, going far enough to appease the American demands in some points, but still not far enough to end the matter.

The note was cabled to the state department by Consul General Lockhart at Hankow, the southern Chinese headquarters, and reached Washington just before the cabinet assembled at the White House for renewed discussion of the general Chinese problem. It reached Washington, too, just after Secretary of State Kellogg had left the city for an Easter vacation at Hot Springs. Hence no action will be taken by the administration on the note until after his return next week.

Deny Responsibility

The principal point at which the Chinese reply fails to meet the demands of this government is in the quasi-denial of responsibility for the Nanking attack on foreigners, and in the proposal for a China-American commission to investigate and report on a findings of fact.

The state department has taken the position that there is no question but that the anti-foreign attacks were directed and perpetrated by Nationalist soldiers in uniform. To back up this position, it has collected numerous sworn affidavits from foreigners, stating that the attackers were Southern uniforms. As a matter of cold legality, while this evidence is convincing, it is admittedly not conclusive.

Protest Bluff, Belief

The counter-protest filed by the Cantonese because American and British warships shelled Nanking is regarded by state department officials as a piece of bluff and incorporated largely for home consumption. Nevertheless, it is admitted that the shelling of Nanking makes the determination of actual damage to foreign property a difficult matter. The Chinese can claim, and doubtless will, that some of the damage to foreign property for which the powers demand indemnity and reparation actually was caused by the shelling by foreign warships.

Two alternatives confront the American government in dealing with Chinese reply, to wit:

It can conisder the answer so unsatisfactory that punitive action will follow, or it can consider that the note goes far enough to meet Washington's demand to justify further correspondence.

Cabinet Members Object

The belief prevails that there will be no punitive action. There are already reports current in Washington that several cabinet members objected to the vigor of the American note of last week, and did not like, particularly, the appearance of the United States taking joint action with the British government. The state department is more and more inclined to "go along" with Great Britain but that inclination is regarded with disfavor by some of President Coolidge's closest advisers.

Furthermore it was pointed out today, the state department would have a difficult time justifying a "big stick" policy on the basis of the Cantonese' expressed willingness to make reparations if and when a joint commission determines their responsibility for the Nanking affair.

Many Precedents

There are innumerable international precedents for a joint inquiry such as the Chinese reply proposes. The Mexican-American mixed claims commission and the Geran-American mixed claims commission are even now engaged in assessment of reparations and damages growing out of American losses in these international conflicts.

The American government is traditionally committed to investigation and adjustment of such incidents. Therefore the Chinese demand for similar action in the present instance has put up to the state department a problem that it will find to circumvent.

According to a recent survey the following has been found: Colleen Moore receives on the average 15,000 letters a month; Clara Bow about 11,000. Next come Richard Dix and James Hall. Lon Chaney beats John Gilbert, and Norma Shearer shares honors with John Gilbert.

CONFESSION OF HEWITT ALLOWED AS EVIDENCE

Judge Holds It Was Not Obtained Through Force; State Scores Point

Jefferson, April 15—The state scored today in the Floyd Hewitt murder trial when Judge Charles R. Sargent, presiding, ruled that the confession made by Hewitt the day following the killing of Mrs. Fred Brown and her son, Fred Jr., 5, at Conneaut last February, and which he later repudiated, was not obtained through force. The judge indicated that he would permit the confession to be introduced as evidence.

H. D. Hannum, county detective, who obtained Hewitt's statement, was on the stand most of the morning. Attorneys argued the matter and questioned Hannum, with the jury excluded from the courtroom.

Shortly before noon, Judge Sargent ruled that he testimony indicated that Hewitt's confession was not obtained under duress and the jury was recalled. The statement will probably be read to the jurors this afternoon.

The defendants are Frank Pewicki, Mike Picardo, Lester Mauer, Herbert Spencer, all of Detroit, and Joseph Murphy, of Pittsburgh, said by police to be the gang leader.

Frank Barry, Leo Fry and John Hill, said to be the operators of the club which was raided by the gang, were also held for court by the magistrate on charges of operating a gambling resort.

INQUIRY BOARD TO INVESTIGATE ATTACK URGED

Nationalists Would Postpone Punishment Until Guilt Is Definitely Set

BLAME BOMBARDMENT

Intimate Some Damage Result of British and American Shelling of Nanking

Washington, April 15—American guns again went into action at Nanking, the trouble spot in China today, and this time, were directed against the Northern troops.

Admiral C. S. Williams, commanding the Asiatic squadron, advised the navy this afternoon that Northern troops entrenched opposite the American Destroyer John D. Ford opened fire upon a Standard Oil ship, the Meian.

The destroyer returned the fire first with machine guns, and when this failed to silence the attackers, the destroyers four-inch guns were brought into action, using shrapnel, this effectually stopped the attack.

The John D. Ford was struck many times during the engagement, Williams reported, but there were no casualties aboard the ship.

The British Cruiser Emerald also joined in the firing.

Shanghai, April 15—The Chinese Nationalists' reply to the American note protesting against the Nanking anti foreign outrages on March 24 proposes a joint American-Chinese Nationalist commission of inquiry to investigate responsibility for the attacks, postponing punishment until guilt is definitely established, it was learned today.

Eugene Chen, foreign minister in the Cantonese government at Hankow, handed the Chinese answer to the United States consul at Nanking Thursday.

Minister Chen says that the Nationalists are preparing to indemnify the United States for damage to the American Consulate at Nanking regardless of the identity of the persons causing the damage, because the consulate, which is upon Chinese soil, was violated.

Ready to Pay

As regards reparations for personal injuries and other material damage aside from the consulate, the note states that the Nationalists are ready to make "reasonable and necessary" reparations, except where it can be proved that the damages were caused by the American and British bombardment or northern soldiers.

The note declares that the demand for punishment of the perpetrators is a presumption of national guilt and that, while this presumption is contradicted by the preliminary inquiry,

Capital Wails as Cal's Bad Wrist, White House Work Keep "Too-rists" at Home

Gloom Rides Apace with Sight-Seeing Buses Despite Promises of Fascinating Easter Finery and Most Beautiful Crop of Cherry Blossoms in Decade

Washington, April 15—President Coolidge's strained wrist, plus the new roof being put on the White House have cost railroads, tourist agencies, hotels and capital business houses many thousands of dollars this spring.

Gloom rides apace with the sight seeing buses, for, as one veteran barker put it, "the tourists ain't comin', see?"

The capital is normally flooded with tourists Easter week. Yet today, with the peak of the Easter week influx upon the capital, and with the finest crop of cherry blossoms in a decade, sight-seeing languishes in the grand manner.

Hotels which normally book Easter week accommodations in their long hall ways weeks in advance, have rooms to spare, notwithstanding the promises from every quarter that this year's version of the capital's greatest spring spectacle—the Easter festivities and finery will be in every respect up to former years. Bus lines whose route usually are shortened to increase the Easter capacity travel the full route today with as few as half a dozen photographing citizens.

Can't Shake Hands

The trade explains that it all comes about because the executive mansion, in the midst of repairing a third floor and new roof, resembles a cross between a wreck and a natural effort; but more likely, it is all to be charged in the end to the fact that the American penchant for shaking hands with the president is not this season to be appeased.

President Coolidge was compelled to abandon the public receptions more than a month ago, when a strained wrist gave him considerable pain. Callers numbered from 30 to 150 daily, and the far western grip aggravated the weakened wrist muscles of the chief executive. When the receptions stopped, the tourist curve slanted precipitately downward and the trade has not since experienced a normal day.

First reported at $100,000 it has dwindled in courtroom gossip to $10,000. The principals declined to discuss the amount.

LEVEES, DIKES WEAKENED BY RAGING WATERS

Columbus, Ky., Once Chosen as Country's Capital, Submerged in Muddy Slush

DEATHS REPORTED

Present Conditions Considered Worst in History of Mississippi River

(By I. N. S.)

Floods and heavy snows throughout the central portion of the United States today forced thousands to flee their homes, paralyzed transportation in many sections and caused intense suffering.

Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kentucky and Illinois were seriously affected by the floods while Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska were gripped by raging snowstorms which in Western Nebraska piled up the thickest blankets in 20 years.

Four were reported dead throughout the area but a greater loss of life was feared when word is received from outlying sections.

Streams in southeast Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma were raging torrents which already have overflowed lowlands forcing hundreds of families to flee and washed out roads and railroad tracks.

Large Areas Inundated

Large areas were reported inundated in southwest Missouri where many towns were threatened.

Mississippi River levees near Cairo, Ill. were being closely watched as the flood continued its rise. Beardstown, Ills., which already has suffered two disastrous floods within a year, reported 100 families forced out of their homes.

Three-fourths of Columbus, Ky., was reported inundated when the Mississippi River went on a rampage after hundreds fought valiantly to keep the levee intact. The flood crest was expected by Sunday at Paducah and Hickman.

Air Mail Paralyzed

Air mail service was paralyzed and train service was delayed and in many instances completely blocked in Colorado.

Impassable drifts blocking highways and crippled transportation was reported in western Nebraska.

The weather forecast was for clear weather in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, western Missouri and western Arkansas. East of these states the weather still was unsettled. A continuation of the unsettled weather was predicted for Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, northern Illinois, Michigan and most of Indiana.

* * *

Memphis, Tenn., April 15—With levees from St. Louis to New Orleans crumbling before the mightiest rampage of the Mississippi River in history, at least a dozen towns are under water, five thousand are homeless and 100,000 acres of farmlands are vast lakes of muddy water.

Large volume of water coming from the northern tributaries continues to empty into the great father of waters, sending the already raging river higher each hour. Heavy rains throughout the Ohio and Missouri valleys during the past week brought the rise in the river.

Half a dozen levees crumbled yesterday and last night, sending several feet of water rushing over Arkansas, Missouri and Kentucky towns.

Columbus, Ky., once selected as the capital of the United States, was today submerged in a swirling sea of muddy slush as a result of a break in the levee. Water is standing from five to 15 feet throughout the city.

At Hickman, Ky., several blocks of the business district are under five to ten feet of water.

25,000 Acres Covered

Truman and Tulot, Ark., were flooded when no break in the St. Francis river levee sent water rushing into a lowland area of 25,000 acres.

The river here today stood at 42.0 and a stage of 44 feet is predicted for the next 48 hours. Forty-six feet will be reached in a week, veteran rivermen declare.

Torrential rainfall in eastern and central Arkansas last night will swell the tributaries of the Mississippi and cause further floods in Arkansas, it is believed.

GROOMING PLANE FOR NEW YORK-PARIS FLIGHT

Mechanics Already Installing Motor in Acosta-Chamberlin Mount

New York, April 15—Mechanics at Roosevelt Field today began grooming the Bellanca monoplane in which Aviators Bert Acosta and Clarence D. Chamberlin hung up a new world's duration record, for a non-stop transatlantic flight from New York to Paris. The work of putting in a new motor is already under way.

Acosta and Chamberlin, who remained aloft in continuous flight for 51 hours, 11 minutes and 25 seconds, beating the old record held in France by five hours, 59 minutes and 26 seconds, plan to start their transatlantic flight early in May if flying conditions permit.

It is estimated by Acosta and Chamberlin that they flew approximately 4,000 miles from Tuesday morning when they took the air until they landed at Roosevelt Field yesterday afternoon.

$350,000 FIRE DAMAGES MICHIGAN SUMMER PARK

Cave Man, Transplanted into Modern Life, Would Be as Useful as Finesse Gone Wrong, Says Surgeon General

WASHINGTON, April 15—Nature, the great adjuster, is slowly remaking the human body that it may withstand the high-powered, speeded-up living of the jazz age, and yet permit the enjoyment of good health and longer life.

This opinion was held out today by Dr. C. C. Pierce, acting surgeon general of the United States, who declared that the American body is undergoing a slow but certain evolution.

Nature is providing weapons within the body that the race may not be doomed by the rapid changes in life that have taken place in the last 25 years.

Nature even is providing against physical ruin threatened by the wild night clubs, by the various lures cast about tired but rich "butter and egg" men, and by playing bridge and eating the food which at midnight hours usually accompanies an auction party.

Makeup Changing

"If this were not so, we still would be climbing around in the trees and wearing roots and herbs," Dr. Pierce said.

The physical makeup of the average human being is changing, according to Pierce. He pointed out that women don't faint so frequently as in the past, that the tendency to the so-called "green sickness" now attributed to tight clothing, is a thing of the past among young girls.

The thyroid and other glands which in cave man days shot vitality stimulation and animation into the aboriginal as he wooed his love or fled from lions and tigers, now operate to bring about longer life and better health. These glands are essential but their purpose is changing.

Would Be N. G.

A cave man suddenly transplanted into modern life would be about as useful as a finesse gone wrong and as dangerous as a beginner's "no trump," he said. Put the cave man in an evening suit and send him to a follies show. The first time the chorus appeared Mr. C. Man would go over the footlights and one of the Lady Godivas would be missing.

Modern man sits tight, at least until the show is over, with little physical reaction except a transient jump in blood pressure, regarded as harmless.

"All this goes to show," Pierce said, "that nature is providing by slow evolution of the body and mind that one may withstand his environment.

"As the new conditions come, such as the so-called jazz age, we are equipped with nature to meet them.

"There is nothing the matter with the human race, either mentally or physically. Life is becoming more abundant in its fullness."

AUTO CLUB IS DISAPPOINTED OVER DEFEAT

Drivers' License Act, Killed in House, Had Support of Local Organization

Defeat of the automobile drivers' license bill in the state legislature was a disappointment to officers of the Marion Auto Club, who had unanimously approved the proposal, George H. Whysall, president of the club, stated today.

The bill was voted down in the house of representatives this week after having passed in the senate. It came up twice in the house, its final defeat when brought up this week for reconsideration being accompanied by a discussion in which Fred W. Warner of this city, chairman of the State Republican Central Committee, and Secretary of State Brown were criticized for alleged efforts to build up their party organization by urging enactment of the measure.

Whysall's Statement

If political leaders sought to strengthen their forces by having the bill pas. si they did so without the knowledge or consent of the automobile organizations of the state, Mr. Whysall states. The State Automobile Association and all of the local clubs allied with it favored a driver's license system because it was believed to be essential to public welfare and safety, the president of the Marion club asserts.

The license bill was originally drawn and proposed by the automobile association and had practically unanimous support of clubs throughout the state, Mr. Whysall states. Automobile organization leaders here and elsewhere believe that the bill would have passed if politics had not been injected into the proceedings.

It is indicated that a similar bill will be introduced at the next session of the legislature and that its passage will be practically assured.

STOCK MARKETS CLOSE IN OBSERVANCE OF HOLIDAY

Summary of Movements Shows Great Extent of Recent Confusion

New York, April 15—Closing of the speculative and many of the commodity markets today is in accordance with a long established custom, though Good Friday is not observed as a holiday in New York state. The banks, clearing houses and most of the business houses remain open, while the stock and produce market remain closed until Monday.

Summarizing the movements of speculative security prices over the past two or three weeks, it can be said without fear of controversy that this has been one of the most confused periods since the break in prices in February and March of last year. Though within a week the average price of representative industrial and railroad stocks have recorded their highest ranges for a decade or more, there have nevertheless occurred violent reactions in some of the prominent groups of stocks, with prices declining below the bottom prices of last year's "big smash."

Prominent in this list are the oil, sugar and specialty stocks. Demoralization in the crude oil production situation, following a year of high prices and excellent earnings for the oil industry as a whole has made the oil stocks an excellent target for the professional bears, and forced liquidation of stock by investors who feared for the safety of their dividends. Copper and sugar stocks also have been compelled to carry the handicap of over production and the consequent declines in commodity prices.

Since the crash in stock prices in the first and second months of last year, both the industrial and the railroad stocks have staged one of the most sensational comebacks in the whole history of American speculative markets. The industrial stocks have moved upward more than 40 points on the average, a feat which seems all the more remarkable when it is considered that many of the important sections of the market have lost further ground since that time.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Strawberries were selling for 50 cents a quart today, but will be higher tomorrow, dealers predicted. Heavy buying and normal shipments, distributed throughout the district, will put the price up slightly tomorrow, it was said.

Strawberries have been moving fast, dealers seldom having to carry any over from day to day. The price has been low enough to stimulate more than ordinary buying for this time of year.

Cucumbers took a sharp drop, going down to 15 cents each, from 30 cents each a few days ago. These cucumbers are from Texas. Red cabbage will be on the market in most stores tomorrow but the price has not been set. There is plenty of fresh new cabbage, selling for seven cents a pound.

Home grown rhubarb has made its appearance, selling for five cents a bunch, and the shipped rhubarb has disappeared.

Leaf lettuce continued its upward climb going to 30 cents a pound, and no slackening of demand. This is the heaviest lettuce buying period of the year, and demand and light supply has forced the price up. Other fruits and vegetables are unchanged today.

AND DEMAND IS WEAK AND DEMANDS WEAK

Chicago, April 15—The supply of hogs was small today but demand was generally weak. Packers showed a bearish disposition but because of fairly good demand from shippers the best heavy and medium weight butchers were quoted strong to 10 cent higher, and the light weights steady to strong. The best light hogs sold early at 10.00 with some held higher.

Cattle receipts were small and prices steady for steers and butcher stock. Bulls sold steady and mixed slowly. Calves were generally steady. Feeders met with a strong demand.

Lambs were quoted steady. Half the supply was direct to packers.

YOUTH GONE 11 YEARS SOUGHT BY RELATIVES

Mother and Sister Searching for Ben Clark, 22; Left State Institution

Search for a young man who was last heard of by relatives 11 years ago, is being made in and around Marion.

The man is Ben Clark, now 22 years old, who is believed to be working in Marion now, although attempts to trace him within the last week through the industries here have failed so far. He was also reported to have been in LaRue within the last year and in Upper Sandusky a few months ago, but the reports furnished no clues to his whereabouts.

Clark is being sought by his mother and sister, whom he has not seen since he was 11 years old.

At that time he was in the Children's Home of Miami County at Troy. He was placed there with several other children in the Clark family on the death of his father. From the Miami County Home Ben Clark went to Columbus to a state institution for children, and it is there that trace of him was lost. It is a rule of this state home not to give the location of children who are taken from the home. It is a rule of long standing, and is seldom, if ever broken.

Conducting Search Here

Mrs. Charles A. Dubbs, Cleveland ct, Marion, is conducting the search here for Clark. Mrs. Dubbs was matron of the Miami County Children's Home shortly after Ben Clark left there, and she had in her charge the other Clark children, who stayed there after Ben was taken away.

The mother and sister of Ben have asked Mrs. Dubbs to trace the clues which they have of Ben, having heard indirectly that he was in or near Marion.

The mother of Ben Clark is now Mrs. Bertha Cruickshank, of Piqua. She was married again after Ben's father died. The sister who is aiding in the search is Mrs. Frances Gustin, R. D. No. 3, Dayton.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. EVA FAIRFIELD

Funeral services for Mrs. Eva Fairfield, widow of Eugene J. Fairfield, who died Wednesday at her home, 414 Delaware-av, were held there at 4 o'clock this afternoon with Rev. Raymond W. Smiley, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, as the officiating minister. Burial was in Marion Cemetery.

What if science should some day reveal that there ARE ghosts?

SHOVEL PLANS

Shovel Co. and D. J. Shelton, another local man included in the directorate, is chief engineer. They will continue holding those positions under the new management ,according to present plans.

Plans Announced

These plans are in accordance with announcement made by Harriman & Co. in advertising the sale of securities being issued in connection with refinancing of the industry. This announcement stated that no change would be made in the executive personnel.

The organization proceedings took place yesterday afternoon at the company's offices here, when the stockholders of the new corporation held their first meeting and elected directors and the directors immediately afterward named their executive officials.

Only local stockholders were in attendance, Harriman & Co., holding the majority of stock, being represented by J. Malcolm Strelitz of the law firm of Guthery, Strelitz & Guthery. This firm handled all of the legal proceedings here in connection with not only the sale of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. but in forming the new corporation. The local firm handled this work in conjunction with Harriman & Company's attorneys in New York City.

The new corporation will not take charge of the business until a number of legal details required for the transfer have been worked out and this routine is expected to be completed soon so that the change can take place before May 1.

In the meantime, plans of the refinancing program will continue with the sale of $3,600,000 first mortgage bonds which are now on the market and $3,100,000 preferred stock, which is also to be placed on sale.

Production Plans

As soon as these preliminary details have been disposed of and the new company is functioning along definite lines, it is expected that plans for increased production will be started. Harriman & Co., at the time purchase of the local industry was consummated, announced that increased sales are expected and that this will mean employment of a larger working force.

Mr. Ackerson is the fourth man to hold the office of president of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. His predecessors were Edward Huber, who served from Aug. 21, 1884, to the time of his death, Sept. 13, 1904, George W. King, who succeeded Mr. Huber and served until his death on Sept. 9, 1917, and Frank A. Huber, who took Mr. King's place and filled the presidency up to the present time.

There have been three general managers, Henry M. Barnhart, founder of the company, C. W. King and C. B. King, who has been retained in that capacity by the new company.

C. B. King is thoroughly conversant with the local factory: its operation and its products, from the ground up, as the result of having had practical experience in all of its branches. Prior to becoming an official of the company, he worked in the factory and on outside construction work. He has been general manager since Jan. 23, 1917.

STREAM LEVELS AT HIGHEST MARKS

Kansas City, Mo., April 15—Streams in southeast Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma today were at highest flood marks this year. Lowlands were flooded, railroad tracks were imperiled and volunteers were aiding county authorities in stemming onslaughts against levees and dikes that protected several cities.

Coffeyville, Kan., was hardest hit by the high waters of the Verdigris River which after midnight began rising at the rate of four inches an hour. Missouri Pacific Railroad officials at that place were concerned chiefly today with the ballasting down sections of track between Independence and New Albany. A wall of water three to five feet deep was menacing the Frisco Railroad between Neodesha and Fredonia.

Clark, chairman of the court, awarded the emblem of recognition of Mr. Brown's 15 years of service in scout work.

It was stated last night that Mr. Brown is one of 207 men in the United States to have the honor of receiving this badge. There have been more than 4,000,000 men and youths in scouting in this country but only 207 have been in service more than 15 years.

Five other men, in addition to Attorney Clark, sat in the court of honor. They were Frank D. Glosser, Clifford George, Dr. Herman S. Rhu, Charles E. Merkle and Lynn Kellogg, a visiting scoutmaster from Texas.

Troop No. 3 of Epworth M. E. Church, led by Scoutmaster V. C. Kissel, received its charter last night. H. D. Hostetter and W. E. Orcutt acted as troop committee and were awarded the charter by Chairman Clark. All scouts received their tenderfoot pin.

Four scouts Richard Isaly, Lycburges Jevas, Robert Annen and Howard Bailey, were awarded first class pins, while 14 others received second class awards, forty-four scouts were awarded merit badges.

James Shipley of Troop No. 2, appeared before the court provisioned and outfitted for a three-day hike when he received his merits and Lycburges Jevas of Troop No. 1 made his appearance in an Indian costume, featuring a headdress and beadwork.

Scout Executive Brown presented 14 youths with training course diplomas for their work in scoutcraft and patrol leadership. Articles of handicraft and scoutcraft were on exhibition and judges awarded first prize to Harry Dorsey and Bob Clevenger, whose work was deemed the best. Robert Bunn and Julian Walker received second awards.

Troop No. 1 presented Mr. Brown with a boy scout statuette. Troop No. 9 staged a knot tying stunt, and the court was adjourned with the scout song. It will again meet June 2. The court of honor will be held during each camping period this summer.

More than 100 persons attended the ceremonies last night.

POSTPONE HEARING OF MAN ON LIQUOR CHARGE

State Prohibition Officer Who Filed Action Unable To Appear in Court

James Inges, proprietor of the Lincoln Hotel on W. Center-st, was docketed for a hearing at 1 o'clock this afternoon on a liquor law violation charge, but the case was continued when F. C. Tracey, state prohibition officer who filed the charge, sent word that he would be unable to appear in court here today. The hearing will be set for some day next week when Tracey finds its convenient to be on hand as prosecuting witness.

Inges was one of six men taken into custody when Tracey staged a series of liquor raids here recently. All of the other cases have been disposed of and $1,100 in fines collected. Arraignment of Inges was delayed due to an illness which kept him confined to his bed for about two weeks.

the Nationalists government still is making an investigation and proposes that punishment be decided by an international commission to be created by the Nationalists and the United States.

Chen's reply says that, as the laws of nations and civilized practices prohibit the bombardment of a city or territory of a friendly state, it is proposed that the commission also investigate "the bombardment of unfortified Nanking by United States forces." The document suggests an apology, but says that the Nationalist administration will await the determination of guilt.

Effective measures are promised to protect foreign lives and properties in the future. But the document emphasis that the "best guarantees of effective protection would be removal of the fundamental causes of the present troubled relations—namely, unequal treaties."

Shanghai Quiet

This city was quiet today, interest centering upon Nanking where Gen. Chiang Kai Shek, Gen. Yei Chung Hsi, Gen. Chow Feng Chi and others are attending the all important Kuomintang conference.

This meeting, it is believed, will result in an open split between the conservatives and the communists. If this comes to pass it is understood General Chiang plans to establish a new government ignoring both the Wuhan and Peking administrations.

The military situation is not clear, the Nationalists claiming a strategic victory in their retreat back to the Yangtse and that the Anhwei forces have cut off the Northern vanguards from their base.

Northerners confirm the Cantonese success at Pukow, declaring that Gen. Chang Tsung Chang transferred his headquarters from Suchow to Pengpu.

A British aircraft carrier landed six airplanes here this afternoon, stationing them at the race course where hangars already had been built. The British plan do use the planes to cooperate with artillery units in the event of an attack against the international settlement. However, fears of such attack have about died out now.

JAPAN DECIDES TO STRENGTHEN FORCES

Tokyo, April 15—Because of the tense situation in Manchuria, the Japanese war office has decided to strengthen its forces there, sending an additional division, it was learned here today.

The war office is sending replacements, without recalling the present forces, it was reported.

Japanese residents in Manchuria are said to have warned officials here that a red uprising against Chang Tso Lin, northern war lord, is imminent.

PROTEST ANSWERS ALMOST IDENTICAL

London April 15—The Cantonese replies to the Nanking protest notes of America, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy were almost identical it was learned here this afternoon. The differences were that the Cantonese in their replies to Britain and America reproached those countries for the bombardment at Nanking while France was reproached for firing upon the Chinese at Canton.

AFTER PERIOD OF TORTURE, MAN FINDS RELIEF FROM ITCHING
Skin now entirely healed
Charlestown (Boston), Mass., Dec. 18:—"Last June I had an itching irritation on my back, principally between the shoulders, and also on the back of my hands, extending to the shoulders. The skin was apparently clear of any disorder, but the itching was intense. After a vigorous rubbing with a Turkish towel there would appear two spots, about an inch apart, which bled from the effects of the rubbing. I used Bay Rum and other lotions before I tried your Resinol Ointment. At bedtime my back received a thorough washing with Resinol Soap and a very generous application of Ointment, after which I would rest quite comfortably until about two or three in the morning, when I received another application. A third upon arising would be enough to make me feel at ease during the day. Thanks to the above treatment, the trouble is now entirely healed." (Signed) John John W. Matthews, 1 Crystal Place.

Constipation Bars You from social success
Abundant health is vital if you are to lead in social activities. And you cannot be healthy unless your bowels are healthy too.
Don't dread constipation. For permanent relief is to be had quickly and easily. A new and delightful corrective performs the three essential functions of relieving, cleansing and rebuilding. Without these there can be no cure.
Normal bowel movements are restored with overnight promptness. Natural methods are used, not harshly irritating ones. Then colon walls are cleansed. All the foul "crust" is melted away. Absolute freedom from irritation and strain gives abused muscles a chance to rebuild, to regain their strength.
This new-day corrective, Jam-O-Lax, performs these three vital functions definitely and surely. Nature is given a chance. Normal conditions are soon restored.
In Jam-O-Lax the corrective elements are blended with the finest of fruits and oils. It comes to you as a tasty jam—equally good by the spoonful or as a spread on crackers.
Delightful to take, positive in action, this triple function corrective is the answer of science to your demand for a corrective that will combat constipation.
Learn what this perfected corrective means to you and yours. Avail yourself of this chance at your druggist.

How To Acquire Charm.

There no longer is any reason under the sun why the ordinary man or woman of average appearance, education and accomplishment may not possess what is known as "charm," provided there is willingness upon his or her part to pay the freight to attain it.

Possibly the trouble in the past has been that such a person was unacquainted with the requisites. That obstacle has been removed by the authors of a recent book, "Charm," in which they present a sort of a chart in the form of a questionnaire which points out the essentials. All the reader has to do is to mold himself or herself to conform to the qualities, characteristics, acquirements and requirements suggested by the questionnaire, and charm will be as good as attained.

The simplicity of the thing will be appreciated by a study of the questionnaire. Here it is in full:

What is your secret ambition—the one you never talk about for company?

What have you done to realize this ambition?

Are your day-dreams centered entirely on yourself?

What is the real cause of the moody fits of depression you have?

How many friends have you who can be counted on in a pinch?

Are you that kind of friend to anybody? To how many people?

Are you envious? Jealous?

Do you like people?

Are you a good listener?

Do you find it a bore when somebody asks you to do a favor?

Are you constantly seeking favors of other people?

Are you conceited? Do you talk too much about yourself?

Do you insist upon having your own way, regardless of other people's wishes?

If you were choosing a friend, would you choose yourself?

If you were giving a party, would you pick yourself as first choice of a guest to be asked?

What trait in you seems to strike other people as most pleasant? Most unpleasant?

Are you ready to give more than you get?

Have you a pose?

What do you talk about?

Are you really well-informed about anything?

What are your chief interests in life? Are they selfish or unselfish?

There you are. We've given you the formula. If any reader hereinafter lacks charm, it will be only because of willful disregard of these suggestions or willful disinclination to possess it. It's so simple. Only a little self-study, a little self-remolding, a little lessening of our self-appreciation and a little more appreciation and consideration of others, and all of us will be on the way to the acquirement of charm. But in one respect it's a lot like the way to Tipperary, and it's just pos-

Sensible Eating.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Every drug store sells enormous quantities of "soda mint" tablets and bicarbonate of soda. Charcoal tablets, milk of magnesia and other agents for neutralizing acidity are called for every hour.

Heartburn, eructations of gas, bloating of the abdomen and all the other familiar symptoms of "indigestion," "dyspepsia" and "gas on the stomach" are among the most common of our afflictions. To overcome the discomfort, the soda and charcoal preparations are taken.

In my opinion, it is better to take these alkalis than it is to suffer. Undoubtedly, continued fermentation produces congestion and irritation of the stomach lining which may result in serious trouble.

But there is no excuse for suffering of this sort. It can be overcome by the exercise of common sense and will-power. Since self-denial is necessary, it

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Harry Lauder has an interesting song about going on to the end of the road. It's a great thing to make up your mind as early in life as possible that you are going on to the end of the road, traveling as blithely as you can, not quitting anywhere along the way. An early determination becomes a habit and the habit carries you through.

Speaking of habit, self-control, perhaps the most desirable of all human qualities, is a matter of habit. If you begin to practice self-control, early in life, in little matters, the habit will take care of you automatically when big matters come.

The real grief in life comes from the consciousness of having done something badly. The real happiness comes from the consciousness of having done something well—or at least as well as we could. The possession of things — even the things we want most — is secondary.

We make fun of it and pretend we don't like it, but the fact is there is too little "applesauce" in the world rather than too much. Applesauce is just a loose spelling of the word, applause. It will always be a result getter.

Thomas A. Edison patiently dissects flowers, stems, roots—looking for rubber. There are over 2,000 trees, bushes and vines which produce some form of rubber. He is trying to find some means of developing a commercial product which can be raised in this country. It takes patience, patience, and more patience. We say Edison has genius. Undoubtedly. And how much of all genius is patience?

We read from Elizabeth Browning, "I worked with patience, which means almost power."

She might have said more: Patience does mean power.

FRANK O. LOWDEN.

Frank Orren Lowden was born at Sunrise City, Minnesota, January 26, 1861. He was elected to the fifty-ninth congress for an unexpired term from the Thirteenth Illinois district in 1906, and was reelected to the sixtieth and sixty-first congresses. In 1917 he became governor of the state of Illinois leaving office in 1921. In 1926 Lowden was elected president of the International Press foundation. He is a member of the National Crime commission. During the Spanish-American war Lowden served as lieutenant colonel of the First infantry, Illinois National guard. In upholding the disdom displayed in the enactment of such measures as the Baumes law of New York he says:

"There is no other part of the American machinery for criminal justice on which there are such varying opinions in different parts of the country as the vexed question of pardons, probation, penal laws and institutional correction, which is the subject assigned to my committee by the National Crime commission, and on no other subject connected with the reduction of crime will a thorough, impartial in-

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, April 15 — Thoughts while strolling: More German movie stars. All members seem to do in a rich club in the wrestler with a heavy mustache. Nothing to yank. A tabloid reporter learning exposition of brocades. Sophie Tucker on Broadway.

Old movie extras. With faces like [illegible]. And the professional skater who wears a yarn stocking cap. Whatever became of Brownie books? A whimpering puppy with lop ear in an express crate. Sisters of charity waiting timidly to cross a crowded street.

An engaging bank sign: "Don't save all—save a little." Nothing so aristocratic looking as a yachting cap. A string quartet in a drug store soda fountain. Those blond Russian girls who dress in Oriental style. Fantastiques—with plenty of buyers.

Two-button spats. Bar-ribboned powder puff dogs. Leonard Leibling the music critic and adept pianist himself. Two former undertakers become drug stores. Those turreted Hudson river houses. Which barricade the last of the old dowagers and their metallic savoir faire. The slinking basement cats.

Straw colored caretakers. Who laze through summers leaning back in sidewalk chairs. Fat women in black sateens who sell limburger cheese and huge pretzels. The old men who perch about elevated platforms picking up stray paper and twine. Grayer houses and grayer people.

Assured and enameled shop girls. More defiant than the debutante. Black cotton umbrellas hanging on a string. Bertha Mason curls. Lorels. Windows of gaudy beads. Two evictions in a block. And rooms with or without table board.

That sullenness that comes with dusk to tenements. Puling babies. Shrill-voiced mothers. And shirt-sleeved fathers who eat heavily before dinner. Gasolene torches of decaying fruit merchants. A few thumping nickel pianos. And night with its spattering stars.

ALASKA BOASTS DARING FLYER

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 15—The name of Joe Crosson, Alaska's premier flyer, has been added to the list of heroes who have faced the dangers of the frozen north to save life. Crosson has just completed the flight from Fairbanks to Sevoonga on the Bering sea coast to reach a sick man and take him to Nome for medical treatment.

The flight, called the most daring in the history of Alaskan aviation, was accomplished in a small swallow plane with a cruising radius of 450 miles. To make it Crosson followed a route along the desolate coastline, under constant danger from early season storms.

Every week Joe Crosson braves more dangers than the average man faces in a lifetime. He carries passengers and freight, ranging from watermelons to gold dust from the outlying mines to Fairbanks, and back again over mountain ranges and ice fields which would spell death should he drop.

Just a Part of His Job

It's all in the day's work for him.

Crosson doesn't take credit for all his flying achievements. He prefers that his sister, pretty and in her early twenties, receive the lion's share of such plaudits as the world cares to bestow.

Marvel is her given name—Marvel Crosson. Aviators at San Diego, California, where she is stationed, say she is just that. For Marvel acts as purchasing agent for the company her brother flies for. She buys motors, oils, bolts, nuts, wings—even entire airplanes. She can dismantle and put an airplane together again with the best mechanic.

With Marvel furnishing the materials, Joe flies.

How Crosson Flies

Crosson doesn't use a compass in flying over the "land of the midnight sun." He says he has a keen sense of direction, and nonchalantly starts from Fairbanks for a point several hundred miles distant "knowing" he will get there.

His experiences since he came to Alaska a year ago read like a thriller. On one occasion at McGrath, with the thermometer 20 degrees below zero, he made a forced landing with three passengers in a river of floating ice!

The ship was cut up, but all escaped injury. Another aviator in another plane carried Crosson back to Fairbanks. The pilot took a second ship in an effort to fly to the scene of the accident to salvage the motor, and when near the scene the second airplane caught fire and was destroyed in the air!

Landing Burning Plane

On this occasion Crosson side-slipped the plane to the earth while his companion held a piece of burlap between Crosson and the blaze so he could see the landing place. Only two and one-half hours by air from Fairbanks, he walked 11 days on the return journey!

"The Homer Pigeon of Alaska," he is called here. Recently in justification of the title he flew 1,000 miles across snow-topped mountains and icy wastes in seven and one-half hours.

Crosson usually flies at night, taking off from here at midnight; this he does because it is light and the air good. At 3,000 feet altitude at midnight, the sun shines in his face, while on the ground it is dark.

In the summer Miss Crosson, also an accomplished aviator, will join her brother and relieve him at the wheel on many of his jaunts across the uninhabited wastes of this great country. She will seek none of his laurels, but hopes to insure her brother's safety by adding her skill and experience to his.

SLEEP NO LONGER INTERRUPTED EXCLAIMS COAL CO. YARDMASTER

63 Year Old Lancaster Man Tells How Famous Mexican Sap Put Him Back On His Feet—Gains 30 Pounds

NO MORE DISTURBED SLEEP

Lancaster, Pa.—Looking as hale and hearty as a man 20 years younger, Mr. F. C. Ruof, well known yardmaster at the Houser & Coho Coal Co., residing at 528 E. Orange St., this city, today told of his amazing relief from chronic kidney inflammation.

"For years my kidneys had been bothering me—first just a little, then they got worse and worse. I didn't know what it meant to enjoy a night's sleep, because my bladder would wake me several times. As a result I was so tired in the morning as I was at night. I lost weight. My legs and feet were swollen, and finally I had to give up my job; nothing gave me any relief. Then I heard about Matamel, and I guess you can tell what it has done for me just by how I look.

"I've put on 30 lbs.—getting up nights is a thing of the past. My weariness has gone, I'm eating better, and on the job like the young fellows. I can't say too much for that wonderful Matamel and will verify my story to anyone calling upon me".

In commenting on this case, a well known doctor says: "If you are troubled with chronic kidney and bladder weakness—in fairness to yourself don't drug yourself with medicines that may do more harm than permanent good. Matamel is a natural sap from the Mexican Maguey plant—not a patent medicine. I have had thousands of cases brought to my attention where it has benefitted sufferers after all else had failed".

Reading of Matamel won't give you its results. You must use it. Call at once for trial can of Matamel at:

SEVEN EXCUSES

Rev. S. L. Sellers Announces Subject For Service Tonight

"The things of God have often seemed foolish to men down through the years. Men of science have made statements concerning the working of the laws of God declaring certain things in nature to be true, and men of all nations have called their ideas about nature foolishness," the evangelist said. "There was a time when men laughed at the idea of steam propelling great loads of freight across the world. And so were all the other scientific discoveries, such as the miraculous thing we call radio today, considered foolishness to men at one time."

Tonight Reverend Sellers will preach on the subject, "Seven Marion Excuses." Henry W. Cohagen of Sidney, evangelist, will sing "In Jesus." The two choruses and the male quartet will also be heard tonight.

THE NEW KONJOLA MEDICINE PRAISED BY NOTED DOCTO

Ohio Physician Strongly Indorses New Compound Konjola Man Busy at Stump's

A remarkable report has been received which shows more clearly than ever the unusual value of this celebrated new medical preparation, Konjola which the Konjola Man is now introducing to large crowds of men and women daily at Stump and Sa

DR. GEO. H. SPRIGGS

The report referred to was issued by Dr. Geo. H. Spriggs, 2315 Inwood Place, Cincinnati, who has gained fame because of his distinguished service as Major in the World War. Dr. Spriggs who has an Edinburg degree, states that this surprising Konjola medicine so completely showed its power in so many cases of suffering that he wanted everybody to know about it. He gave a detailed statement of the work of Konjola and also offered his photograph for publication.

"By helping Nature," said this prominent doctor, "Konjola is far above many older known remedies. I first tried it in a case of kidney trouble-getting up frequently at nights. The man who took it came back the fourth day and said he slept all through the previous night. I learned afterward that he had been doctoring over 15 years for his trouble. I learned of a man who hadn't left his home for over two years. He had been crippled with rheumatism, swollen joints, stiff, aching limbs and agonizing pains. He completed a few weeks' treatment of Konjola and said he walked a distance of nearly a mile. This, of course, was about three weeks after he completed Konjola. From this case I believed this medicine would do wonders for neuritis and I recommended it to a lady who said she had tried everything for her suffering. She had tried mineral baths, electric treatments and medicine upon medicine. It took only 5 weeks of the Konjola to completely end her trouble and she has never had a return of the neuritis pains.

"I next treated a woman who had been in bed 3 days out of 5, every week, suffering intense stomach pains, caused from gas bloating and sourness, which had been getting worse for years past. She said in 5 years she had spent several thousand dollars on her health. She took Konjola and began to eat heartily of many things she hadn't dared to eat in years. The food agreed with her and she continued Konjola a few weeks longer and gained nearly 20 pounds. She says she feels ten years younger, and her appearance certainly shows it. I had another lady tell me Konjola did her more good than 4 years of special dieting. She took Konjola for nervousness and a general rundown system.

"When Konjola is taken into the human system, there are a score or more of different herbal extracts and each one of them has certain duties to perform on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. The cleansing and invigorating of these important organs is what seems to bring such amazing relief and new feelings of health. I heartily recommend it and consider it a real Godsend to those who suffer ill health."

The Konjola Man is at Stump and Sams, (Formerly Stump Pharmacy) 121 South Main Street, (Marion's busiest downtown section), where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.—Adv.

What Has Gone Before

In the home of PROF and NELLIE ELWELL in Camden, Ind., one night in October, comes a nurse, bearing a man who had fainted on a train. Elwell is an artist. He has a son, JIM, aged 5. Late that night a woman bears twin girls and dies without revealing her name. The story then moves forward years. The twins, now growing beautiful womanhood, have been adopted and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called RUSTY AND BETTY.

Jim enlists in the World War. Then discovers one of the twins loves him. Put in charge of a machine gun unit, he is shell-shocked at Sedan and, through a slip, is registered as JOHN POWELL. He is removed to an American hospital and reported dead.

It is discovered that the father of the twins is dead and that they are the nieces and heirs of JOHN CLAYTON, wealthy retired banker. While the twins are visiting Clayton's home, the Elwells get word that Jim is alive and in a New York hospital, and their grief is turned to joy.

While they are on their way to New York the story goes back to the point where MIKE HENNEGAN, ex-soldier, is taken by nurse NELLIE DOWNING to the hospital where Jim is. There they are told about his strange case.

Now Begin the Story

CHAPTER XXV

"WHAT he has been taught so far," the superintendent continued, "consists in getting into his coat and trousers, drawing on his socks and shoes and walking and eating in the way I've described. Those things he now performs of his own volition, poor fellow. You will find him very tractable and an easy patient to handle.

"As for any understanding of what is said to him, a fox terrier is a marvel of intellect in comparison," Nellie Downing winced.

"Only his physical brain functions," said the superintendent. "There is no sign of real mental activity whatever. It is thought that an operation possibly might restore him to normal, but such an operation, on the other hand, would be exceedingly dangerous and perhaps fatal. The trouble, doubtless, is the result of a blood clot on the brain or else some connecting fibre in some way was broken by the terrible physical shock of a heavy shell explosion."

"Is there nothing we can do?" Nellie Downing asked.

"Nothing that I know of." If it was a blood clot, the superintendent told her, another similar shock might, so the specialists had said, take it loose and bring back his memory.

"But it would be purely accidental if it did. Now, if you wish, I will have him brought in here, but there isn't a chance in a million that he will know you or would know any person he had ever seen before. In my opinion and in the opinion of two specialists who have examined him, he might far better have been killed outright."

He called an orderly and instructed him to bring John Doe Number 2 into the reception room. The orderly went out and Nellie Downing's eyes met those of Mike Hennegan.

The orderly returned in a few minutes and Nellie Downing rose with an impulsive little cry as her gaze rested on the man she had seen carried out of the hospital in Metz, a shaken wreck.

She started forward but before she had taken a step her ear drums were almost split by a whoop in her ear.

Mike Hennegan had been sitting in his chair when the patient was brought in and had glanced up with only casual interest. But suddenly a great change came over him. He started up, his face wrinkled in surprise and his mouth fell open. Then he gave vent to his war whoop and rushed past Nellie Downing like a huge projectile hurled from a catapult.

"For the love of Saint Pat!" the nurse heard him yelp in a raucous bleat as he grabbed the shell-shocked soldier's hand in a pump-handle shake. "If it ain't me old buddy, Jim Elwell! Who in hell would ever've dreamed of this? Me old sidekick, Jim! Put 'er there, old top, put 'er there!"

The heart of Nellie Downing rose up in a quick, thrilling leap as she heard the words of recognition. But it sank again the next instant as she noted the total lack of any aroused memory in the eyes of the man Mike had called Jim Elwell.

Those eyes looked at Mike Hennegan and merely stared. His hand had gone out mechanically into Mike's grasp. He was unsmiling, unmoving, like some pale wooden soldier.

Mike had not yet noticed all this. His heart was sounding the bugle call of reveille in his excited brain, which at that moment held nothing but the glad knowledge that his old buddy stood before him.

"Well, I'm a son of a gun!" he went on, his grin still stretching from ear to ear, still pumping the staring soldier's hand. "Now, what do you know about this? Don't you remember me, Jim—yer old pal Mike, that fought the cooties with yuh half way across France an' then got gassed at the foot of Belleau Wood? Don't you remember me—an' the French quartet what used to sing all those crazy dam—don't you remember, Jim—"

He stopped short. The happy look on his freckled face faded. The grin vanished and the mouth sagged. It had suddenly dawned on him that he was jabbering away to a man who heard him not, or, if he had heard, the brain that caught the words registered nothing but the sound with no conception of what it meant.

Mike turned and looked at Nellie Downing and his eyes were almost blinded with tears. He ripped out a horrible oath.

"I forgot," he said in a husky voice that was half a sob, "but it's my old buddy, Jim Elwell, the squarest guy I ever met, and I never thought for a minute that he was the man you—"

"But who is he, Mike," interrupted the nurse. "That is," she corrected herself, "who are his people? That's what we want to know. Where is he from? Oh, I don't know whatever made me think of bringing you here with me, but thank the Lord I did!"

"Where's he from?" Mike repeated vaguely, his glance shifting back to his old buddy who still stood there looking at them but with eyes that showed nothing but that horrible, vacuous stare. "he's from some place, some place out in the sticks. Let's see now, what's the name of the place he came from—Indiana? Yes, that's it, that's it—Indiana."

He kept looking at Jim Elwell, fascinated, unbelieving.

Nellie Downing, with a trace of impatience edging her voice, asked, "But what place in Indiana, Mike? Indiana," she said sharply, "is a big state and there's probably a hundred or more Elwell families living there. Don't you know anything about his people—what town or city they live in?"

"Yes," put in the superintendent, who had been an amazed witness to all this, "try to think of it. If we can locate his parents, it might help to—"

"I don't think I ever heard him mention the name of the town," said Mike Hennegan, stroking his chin thoughtfully, "except that it was a small burg of four or five thousand, I think.

"But," he went on quickly, his face brightening, "I remember now he called his old man Prof and his mother Mollie—funny thing to call your mother by her first name and your father by a nickname—an' he used to tell me about a coupla kid pals of his—girls they were—twins his folks adopted when they were born, for their mother had died."

Jim Elwell, said Mike, had called them Rusty and Betty. "And he had a picture of them taken with his mother and the old man and himself. They were both mighty pretty girls with a lot of hair. They were eighteen, he said, and they didn't look exactly alike, even if they were twins. And his mother was nice lookin', too, and so was his old man. But I don't think he ever said where they lived—that is, the name of the town.

"That's all I know," he said, and "Oh, hell!" he burst out. "I can't believe I'm standin' here in front of Jim Elwell, a-talkin' about him like this an' him standin' there takin' it all in an' not knowin' a thing I'm sayin'. I can't believe it. It ain't right, somehow."

Nellie Downing turend to the superintendent. "Is there some way in which we could learn where he's from?"

That ought not to be difficult, he assured her. "His name is recorded in Washington and the records will show his place of residence and the name of his parents. It'll take time, of course, to look them up, but they can be obtained. I'll dictate a letter to the war office at once."

"No," said Nellie Downing with sudden decision. "The wheels in the war office move too slow. I'll go to Washington myself and I'll leave tonight on the midnight train. That will get me there in the morning. I met the president once, just before I went to France, and I know he'll help me to get this matter straightened out. We won't waste time writing letters."

The superintendent smiled at her impetuous words. Getting to the president on a matter like this wasn't easy, even for people who had met him.

Miss Downing turned and studied for a fleeting moment the freckled face of the man she had staked to twenty dollars that morning.

"Mike," she said, speaking slowly, thoughtfully, you have earned your keep today and that's more than you've done for some time, I'm afraid. You need a job. You need it for no better reason than to keep you out of mischief. How would you like to remain here and look after your friend Jim until I return from Washington? Perhaps if you show yourself useful enough, Mr. Burton here might give you a regular job around the hospital."

The superintendent was not slow to grasp suggestions. "We need an elevator man," said he, and a broad smile spread cross his features as he surveyed the big Irishman. "It's eight hours a day, sixty dollars a month, room and board. How would you like it, Mike?"

"I'm hired," said Mike, his grin again threatening the lobes of his ears. "When do I eat?"

Mr. Burton laughed and looked up at the clock on the wall.

"You eat in forty-five minutes," he declared. "The gong will sound off for you. In the meantime," he added, "you might take Jim Elwell out for a walk. We'll wait till Miss Downing's return before you go to work."

"Didja hear that, Jim, ol' topper?" yipped Hennegan as he grabbed his old buddy by the hand again. "It's me an' you for a little stroll. An' then we eat. The last time we sat down together it was a mulligan stew o' salt horse. Maybe it'll be pork chops this time."

Over Jim Elwell's mouth there played a small, uncertain smile. At sight of it an agonized cry broke from Nellie Downing, for though his lips smiled, his eyes—those staring eyes—were devoid of recognition or interest. They just looked out in front of him—windows that opened out on a dead world.

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

MARY HARRISON'S FUTURE

MARY HARRISON'S fatalistic little speech, "I suppose that's the end of me," called forth by my message to Philip Veritzen in answer to his wireless, was, despite my pity for her, something I welcomed. For a little while at least, I would have something besides my own personal perplexities to consider.

That Dicky's young love was suffering poignant suspense as to Philip Veritzen's attitude when he found out her deception I knew, and realized that she had ample reason for her fears. The great theatrical producer zealously guarded his dramatic "finds" from contact with any other members of the theatrical profession during their years of novitiate with him. He wanted the appearance of one of his stars to be an absolute novelty to the audiences, who have become accustomed to the last word in artistry of setting and acting from his productions. A hint that anyone undergoing his training had appeared in any public way even as an amateur for charity would mean the instant dismissal of his protegee, for he would reason, and rightly, that the publicity would have robbed his future star of the elements of mystery, and surprise upon which he so strongly counts in his premieres.

How then could Mary expect clemency, Mary, who because of the glamour thrown over the affair by Jack Leslie, the cabaret dancer, whom Dicky had dubbed the "capering cockroach," had rebelled with all the unreason of her sixteen years against the rigid discipline of her training and made the sensation of the year as "the masked dancer," at the cabaret where Jack Leslie danced and Noel Veritzen played the violin?

I tried to keep this thought from tinging my voice as I answered her plaint with a bang. "Let's not cross that bridge until we come to it, Mary," but I was conscious of its futility even before she had flashed me an unconsciously reproachful look.

"I'm afraid I'm already across it," she said. "You know, Auntie Madge, the worst thing to me is the fact that I was such a contemptible little liar, creeping out that way and deceiving you and breaking my agreement with Mr. Veritzen not to go anywhere except the places you took me. But that won't be the worst thing to Mr. Veritzen. What he'll be maddest about is the idea that somebody might have recognized me, and be able to say that anyone in his training was appearing at a cheap cabaret. I don't think he'd worry his head if I broke every one of the Ten Commandments, so long as his pride wasn't hurt."

I suppressed an astonished smile at the child's reasoning for she had put her finger unerringly upon Philip Veritzen's chief characteristic—and weakness.

"I think you're right, Mary," I said, "and in that very fact lies the only hope I have for you. Remember that the secret of your being the masked dancer is confined to people who under no circumstances would betray you—with of course, the exception of Jack Leslie, and I am sure he was so thoroughly cowed by Major Grantland upon the night we rescued you from Leslie's apartment that he never will dare to breathe a word to your detriment. In fact"—this slowly, carefully averting my eyes from her, "I do not think there is the slightest danger that Mr. Veritzen will ever discover the fact if you do not choose to tell him."

It was a deliberate testing of her, an unfair one perhaps, but one which I nevertheless felt justified in making. I love Dicky's young niece very tenderly, but I cannot forget that the whole episode of her adventure as the masked dancer revealed a capacity for gross and cheap deceit as well as propensity to be influenced by plausible and evil companions which augured ill for any future stability of purpose, or present strength of character. That she had suffered agonies of remorse, I knew, when she found that she simply had been the tool of my malignant enemy Grace Deapee, in her attempt to poison Dicky and throw the blame upon me. I also remembered her extreme youth—only sixteen years—and hoped that her terrifying experience with Jack Leslie from which we had rescued her had brought her to a salutary realization of the littleness of her own soul. Therefore I waited tensely for her answer to the hint I had dropped. Upon her reaction to the temptation my words must have given her, depended my future course of action concerning her.

Your "Regular" Pain Now Needless

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by benumbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes!

So, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable! Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have midol in a thin aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket—for 50 cents.

400 EXTRA DRY SHELL GASOLINE

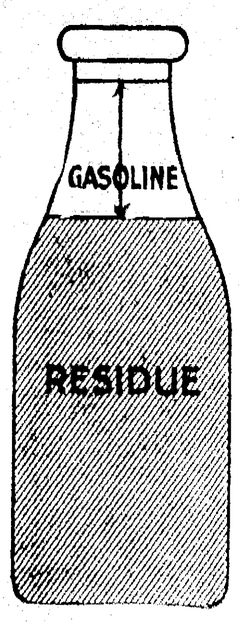
A Big Success From the Start

Superior and Costs no More

SHELL Continues to Lead the Way—

SHELL GASOLINE

Why 400 "Extra Dry" SHELL is Superior



The Improved SHELL Way Takes Only The GASOLINE from the CRUDE

The old way (437° End Point)—the one in general use—takes the gasoline from the crude with part of the heavier and less volatile elements.

The SHELL way (400° End Point) takes only the cream of the crude—producing a higher gravity gasoline—extra dry, clean-burning and wonderfully powerful and effective.

The NEW Shell Gasoline, refined to "400 End Point" costs more to produce because less gasoline is obtained per gallon of crude—but the price to you remains the same.

Constant betterment is the spirit of the day. And nowhere is this so strikingly illustrated as in the modern motor car.

Compare the automobile of the present—its beauty of line, its swift, silent motor, its comforts and conveniences—with that of former years.

As motors have changed in speed, stroke and bore, there has arisen a need for an improved gasoline to meet these changed conditions.

SHELL answers the call with 400 "Extra Dry," the first basic improvement in gasoline quality that has been made in years—and at no advance in price.

It's your old favorite—SHELL—brought to a higher specific gravity—a higher degree of power and perfection—by lowering the "end point" to 400°.

The success of this wonder gasoline has surpassed all expectations—taxing the capacity of the three great SHELL refineries to supply the demand. Shell users are enthusiastic in their praise—thousands who have never before used Shell are flocking to Shell Stations and Shell Dealers for the greatest gasoline value on the market.

If YOU want to know the reason for this success—if YOU want to realize the full possibilities of your car—in increased speed, power, response and all-around improved performance—"Change to Shell."

Any yellow-red Shell Service Station or any Shell Dealer is ready to supply you with this new gasoline at the regular price—not one cent extra for the extra quality it contains or the extra service it will render.

S. H. KELLER IS TO BECOME CITY CLERK APRIL 25

Elected by Council To Succeed Harry K. Stofer; One Other Applicant

Announcement of the resignation of Harry K. Stofer, 324 S. State-st, as city clerk, and appointment of S. H. Keller, 484 Cherry-st, as his successor, was made at the city hall this morning.

The announcement followed a called meeting of council held last night when the resignation of the present clerk was accepted and his successor elected.

Ralph R. Good, present councilman at large, was the only other applicant for the position.

Mr. Stofer, whose resignation will take effect on April 23, has accepted a position on the reportorial force of The Star and will take up his new work on April 25. He will take the place left vacant in The Star's news force by resignation of Ray Sutliff, who will leave Saturday for Akron where he will be employed on the staff of the Beacon-Journal.

Mr. Keller, who will take up his duties as city clerk on April 25, has been a resident of Marion for many years, is prominent in church work and has also been active in local political affairs.

For 10 years prior to five years ago, when he was compelled to retire because of poor health, Mr. Keller was traveling salesman with the Central Alloy Steel Co. of Canton.

Both the retiring clerk and his successor are republicans. Mr. Stofer was engaged in newspaper work prior to accepting appointment as clerk with the present city administration on Jan. 1, 1926. He was employed as a reporter with the Marion Tribune several years and later in the same capacity as local representative of a Columbus paper.

The office to which Mr. Keller has been appointed includes clerkship of the council, mayor, board of control and city planning commission.

WATER, ELECTRICITY TO BE SHUT OFF IN SANTOY

Sunday Creek Coal Co. Officials Rescind Former Eviction Notice

New Lexington, April 15—Santoy, a mine village near here, will be without hydrant water and electricity after Saturday midnight, it was learned here today when the officials of the Sunday Creek Coal Co. rescinded its former eviction notice and arrangements were made to halt the operation of the power plant.

Superintendent Laverty is notifying the 200 families they may remain in their homes until other arrangements are made by the Sunday Creek officials. The eviction notice followed the disagreement between Ohio operators and miners, when union miners ceased work April 1, because of the refusal of the operators to continue the $7.50 per day Jacksonville agreement.

Laverty explained the company had not rescinded its decision to sell the houses, while union officials looked upon the new order as a victory, and the first ray of light toward a conference between miners and operators in southeastern Ohio."

"Swizzle", Named After Cocktail Stick, Newest Dance to Invade United States

New York, April 15—Charlestoners, hey hey! Blackbottomers, make way! The Swizzle is coming.

It is the latest dance creation and bears all the foot-marks of becoming a new craze. What its eventual fate will be, of course, is still conjectural; but meanwhile it boasts a simple origin.

Which is some boast for a dance these days. For a lawyer just went to court to establish the source of the Black Bottom. He contends that the dance was inspired by the Bible—in a passage telling of the daughters of Zion "washing their garments in basins with their naked feet."

Others hold that the dance was evolved in the south; the more skeptical contend that it was just a stage creation. All of which leads to an obscurity.

"But no such moot questions can be raised about the Swizzle dance," says Vincent Lopez, its creator. "This dance was inspired by the swizzle sticks used for mixing cocktails in Central and South America. And its steps are suggested by the serpentine motion of the mixer twirled around in the drink."

As a result, the Swizzle (dance, not stick) sends the dancer swirling from one side to the other. The tempo is that of the fox-trot, but the motion is considerably varied. There is more gliding and pivoting than in the older form.

Maybe, when you finish, you'll feel as if you had a Central American cocktail or two.

Here we have "The Swizzle" being danced by Cyril and Virginia Darth. "The Swizzle" is the latest in dances, if you must know—and you shall. It originated in Trinidad and has the esoteric charm of Central and South America. The Swizzle stick, after which it was named, is used to mix drinks. It is the size of a pencil, and about as wide, with a prong arrangement that looks like a gear at the bottom, which is swirled through a drink, thus mixing it.

HERE ARE THE DIRECTIONS:

Take dance position:

First movement: Gentleman takes two sliding steps forward, lady two steps backward, lead to starting position with quick steps and heels off floor.

Second movement: Pivot, alternating steps.

Third movement: Four quick steps, lady to the fore, dipping with each step.

Fourth movement: Four gliding steps to the right and then to the left, heels on floor, then swizzle: three serpentine steps to the right three serpentine steps to the left then three swings man holding girl tightly around waist and whirling together, then back to dancing position.

Fifth movement: Lady dips while partner stands back and Sixth movement: Swings her into upright position again.

Seventh movement: Embrace with two steps forward and two steps backward, swing into position for repetition of original steps.

FIVE INDICTED IN BANK CASE TO BE ARRAIGNED

Steubenville, April 15—Five men, under indictment, for alleged participation in the wrecking of the Yorkville Savings Bank, will be arraigned Saturday, it was announced here today.

W. E. Jones, cashier, named in three true bills, and two directors of the defunct institution, were indicted among others.

The first indictment, jointly accused W. E. Jones, Thomas Jones and J. N. Hunter; the second accuses the cashier, Thomas S. Jones and W. B. Francis, while the third accuses the cashier, J. N. Hunter and Thomas Kademenos.

Members of Ohio House, Senate Recess Until Next Wednesday

AMENDMENTS TO AIGLER BILL CAUSE TROUBLE

Joint Conference Committee Meets in Effort To Iron Out Differences

Columbus, April 15—While the Ohio Senate and House was in recess, members of a joint conference committee here today met in an effort to iron out differences existing between the two legislative branches relative to house amendments to the Aigler bill, increasing the franchise tax on corporations doing business in Ohio.

The house and senate recessed late Thursday night until 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, April 20.

After the house, Wednesday night, passed the Aigler bill, by a vote of 95 to 11, the senate refused to concur in house amendments and forced the measure to a joint conference committee.

Determined to dispose of the Aigler bill controversy first, the senate refused to carry out the plan which called for a vote Wednesday night on a question of passing the Sullivan bill, increasing the state gasoline tax from two to three cents per gallon.

Two Are Ready

Of the five major financial measures, only two have passed the legislature and are ready for the approval, or disapproval, of Gov. Vic Donahey. These are: the Dodd bill, providing for a direct state tax levy of a half mill, and the Kumler bill, increasing the excise tax on certain utilities from 1.2 to 1.35 per cent.

When the legislators reconvene next week, the senate will be asked to pass the Sullivan bill, which already has passed the house; the house will be requested to concur in senate amendments to the Norton bills recodifying and revising state highway laws, and both legislative branches will be asked to approve the joint conference committee's report relative to the Aigler bill.

As it passed the senate, the Aigler Bill had increased the franchise tax from 1-12 to 1-8 of one per cent for the first year and provided for 1-10 of one per cent for subsequent years, besides authorizing exemption from this tax of 20 per cent of corporate properties outside Ohio. The house changed the tax rate for the first year to 1-17 of one per cent and boosted the percentage of exempted property from 20 per cent to 100 per cent.

Forney Bill Passed

The joint conference committee on the Aigler Bill comprises Senators C. C. Bolton, Cleveland, Republican floor leader; A. G. Aigler, Bellevue, and P. M. Herbert, Columbus, and Representatives Martin Dodd, Toledo, Republican Floor Leader, C. H. Jones, Jackson, and G. P. Ward, Columbus.

The senate next week will be asked to concur in the action of the house which by a vote of 91 to 13, passed the Forney Bill, levying a 10 per cent tax upon the sale of cigarettes throughout Ohio. The bill, it was estimated, if operative as law, would increase the state's revenues about $4,750,000 a year.

The house, also, passed, 99 to 4, the Sullivan bill, changing the inheritance tax rate so that this state will share the full 80 per cent allowed by the federal government. This measure, which now goes to the senate, is estimated to increase the state's revenues about $1,000,000 annually.

Would Remedy Situation

Efforts will be made, it was stated, to have both the senate and house next week pass the Marshall and Etling bills, now pending in the senate, which, dry leaders claimed, if enacted into law, will remedy the situation resulting from the decree of the U. S. Supreme Court which invalidated Ohio statutory provisions which authorized village mayors to accept as compensation part of fine collected from liquor law violators.

The senate and house late Wednesday adopted the Bustard joint resolution providing for a joint committee, of five senators and five house members, to investigate and study the criminal jurisprudence of Ohio and report to the next legislative session with a view to enacting a new criminal code. This proposed committee, it was stated, would submit recommendations dealing, among other things, with the jurisdictions of justices of the peace and village mayors and with recommendations for permanent reconstruction of the interior court system of Ohio.

WHAT MILLIONAIRE OIL MAN MAY HAVE TO FACE

EVANGELIST ADDRESSES OLNEY AVENUE STUDENTS

Rev. S. L. Sellers, evangelist now at Central Christian Church, and Rev. Henry W. Cohagen, music director at the evangelistic services, were at the assembly at Olney-av School this morning.

Reverend Sellers spoke briefly to the children and told them several stories. Reverend Cohagen led the singing and gave several selections.

The program given by the students was in keeping with the Easter season. There was a piano solo by Jean Ballinger, and recitations by Phoebe Williams, Thelma Nicholson and Elizabeth Glassmeyer, and the entire fourth grade.

SEEK WITNESSES

Two Men Missing in Teapot Dome Oil Case Can't Be Found

Washington, April 15—The government has 40 days left in which to accomplish a task it has been unsuccessfully striving to accomplish for more than three years—find H. M. Blackmer and James O'Neil, missing witnesses in the Teapot Dome oil case.

Both men, Blackmer, former chairman of the board of the Midwest Refining Co., and O'Neil, former president of the Prairie Oil & Gas Co., are "abroad." They have been "abroad" ever since the senate committee began to uncover sensational evidence in the Teapot Dome investigation.

Unless they are found in the next 40 days the government's conspiracy case against Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall will suffer materially. This case, originally set for April 25, was postponed until May 25 by Justice Hitz.

The play was adapted from the story by Louisa M. Alcott.

"Little Women" was first given in New York at the Playhouse, Oct. 1912, by William A. Brady. It was also successfully presented in London Nov. 10, 1919.

The cast, chosen by Miss Foreman, is as follows: "Mr. March," Marvin Rife; "Mrs. March," Edna Surface; "Meg," Ruth Henderson; "Jo," Hallie Houck; "Beth," Verna Mae Dorfe; "Amy," Viola Peacock; "Aunt March," Virginia Wilson; "Mr. Lawrence," Paul Dowler; "Laurie," Joe Rinnert; "Professor" Frederick Bhaer," Kyle Forry; "John Brooks," Edwin Knight; "Hannah Mullett," Esther Brown.

Miss Foreman explained that "Little Women" is to be Harding High's first attempt at a costume play envolving a cast of seven girls and five boys in a Civil War period setting.

This year's caps and gowns will be rented from the Official Cap & Gown Co. of Detroit, the same firm furnishing them in former years.

As the Senior social will not be held, due to lack of time, the committee appointed for that function, consisting of Kyle Forrey, chairman, and Ruth Roush, Ardell Bohler and Clyde Morrison members, has been transferred to the task of staging the annual senior kid party.

DAVIDS STREET STUDENTS FORM HONOR SOCIETY

Fifth Grade Pupils Perfect Organization To Promote Citizenship in School

The fifth grade students of the Davids Street School have organized an Honor society.

"Responsibility" was chosen as the motto and the creed is "I live in one of the best countries in the world and I wish to do all I can to make it better." The pledge is "Every day I will do at least one thing to show that I am a good citizen."

There are duties in connection with the subject of each meeting. The honor points awarded pertaining to the subject, "New Pioneers," are:

1. I explained to a new American what a policeman does for us.
2. I explained our traffic rules to a new American.
3. I told a New American the story of the flag.
4. I learned a few facts about Ellis Island.
5. I helped a new American become acquainted with our citizens.
6. I read a story about a brave Pole.

More Honor Points

Some honor points in "Kindness to Animals" are:

1. I read an animal story.
2. I became acquainted with the humane officer.
3. I read about Rosa Bonheur.
4. I learned about laws that protect domestic animals.
5. I made a list of five things that horses do for us.

The meetings are held every two weeks and are entirely controlled by the students. Students who smoke, swear, etc. cannot hold office. Any new rule or law for the betterment of the school or school ground if taken up by the club.

The club takes charge of cleaning the lawn and beautifying the grounds.

The honor society has promoted sportsmanship on the playground and scholarship in the class room.

If Youth But Knew

BY OTTO H. KAHN,

Banker and Patron of the Arts

FIRST: Eliminate from your vocabulary in working hours the word perfunctory. Every task is a test. However trivial it may be, your manner of performing it will testify in some way and in some degree for or against you.

I got my first promotion in business through following this rule. Three of us boys sitting in line were engaged for a certain period each day in licking stamps. By a dint of strenuous application I soon became an adept at the job and accomplished the triumph of holding the office record as to speed in licking stamps. Two or three times I noticed our "boss" standing near the place where we worked. After a while he called me to him, informed me that I was promoted out of my turn in recognition of the zeal, energy and accurateness with which I had accomplished the function of the stamp licker.

It was a valuable lesson to me both then and in later life.

Reputation Best Asset

Second: Remember the most serviceable of all assets is reputation. Unlike money, reputation cannot be bequeathed; it must be acquired. Brains alone, however brilliant, cannot win it. The most indispensable requisite is character.

Third: Think. Exercise the springs of your brain as you exercise the muscles of your body. There is no better investment, from the material and every other point of view than thinking.

Fourth: Use your imagination.

Fifth: Be ready. Be fully prepared, but be patient. Bide your time and know how to wait. A wise business man said to me at the beginning of my career: "It is not only the head that counts in the race for success. There is another part of your anatomy which is of the utmost importance. Learn to think and act but also learn to sit. More people have got on by knowing when and how to sit tight than by rushing ahead."

Sixth: Consider as one of the essential requisites of your diet a supply of the milk of human kindness. If you would rise, throw overboard envy and ill will.

Keep Your Ideals

Seventh: Work hard, but do not permit yourself to become a machine. Presumably you have ideals; by all means keep them. Do not become a cynic.

Eighth: Take an interest and a due share in public affairs.

Ninth: Meet your fellowmen with confidence unless you have reason to suspect. Do not think that you have to go through business life or any other phase of life armed to the teeth.

Tenth: To those who may attain conspicuous success, I would particularly address an admonitory word. Success is not a free gift. Like everything else really worth having in life, it has got to be paid for. If you do not assume and discharge responsibilities and duties in a measure commensurate with your success you are, from the moral point of view, a defaulter. Avoid ostentation. Beware, especially, that insidious tendency of wealth to chill and isolate. Make it a point not only to be approachable but to see in local contact the workaday world so as to remain part and parcel of it, to maintain your fellowship in it.

STATE STREET PUPILS BEAUTIFYING GROUNDS

Brigade of 40 Rakers To Continue Clean-Up Work Until April 22

"Clean Surroundings Make Happy People".

This is the motto of pupils at State Street School. A "Clean-up Campaign" under the direction of the Student Council is being conducted. A brigade of forty rakers with innumerable wagons, shovels, rakes brooms and rollers started their work Thursday morning April 7, and will continue until April 22.

The campaign is divided into four divisions, lawn, basement, hall, and rooms. Each room is responsible for its share of the work, under the supervision of the councillor who represents their room.

Thus far two phases have been completed, the lawn and the room. The children invite citizens to inspect their work.

The result of the campaign are threefold: busy children, clean surroundings and last but not least, proud citizens.

PLAYGROUND DEDICATED AT OAKLAND HEIGHTS

A great dedication took place last week at Oakland Heights School when the newly purchased plot of ground at the corner of Congressed and Uncaple ceary was turned into a play ground This plot is known to the community as the "grove," as it contains a number of huge trees.

Owing to the fact that swings are none too plentiful the girls of the school use the swings in the morning and the boys use them in the afternoon. With such a system the entire group of pupils are able to obtain the use of them.

GIRLS AHEAD IN BANKING AT GLENWOOD BUILDING

School banking has been conducted at Glenwood for one year now. The total amount banked in Miss Bernice Kerr's room, which includes seventh grade pupils, amounted to $73.58. Miss Katherine Sloane's room, the second and third grade, totaled at $56.00. Alwin Patrick of the seventh grade, holds the honors for having banked the most money for the year, $20.22. The boys and girls see who can bank the most and at present the girls are 3¢ ahead.

OAKLAND HEIGHTS IN PERFECT BANKING CLASS

Every Student Qualifies To Wear 100 Per Cent Button; 492 Enrolled

After more than a year of striving Oakland Heights has at last Attained the height of supremacy. The record is 100 per cent in baking. This means that every pupil in 14 rooms, or seven grades of two rooms each have reached the distinction. It is indeed a distinction as 492 pupils and 15 teachers were all included and banked in the school bank in order to reach this goal. Each pupil is now privileged to wear the 100 per cent button and every room in the building has a sign which reads, "This room—100 per cent in Banking."

PROGRAM TO BE PRESENTED AT OAKLAND HEIGHTS

The fifth and sixth grades of Oakland Heights are to present an entertainment in the school auditorium Friday night, April 29. The program will be given to obtain funds to complete payments on the piano, which was recently purchased by the school.

Don't be fooled on house paint!

"Cheap" paint isn't cheap at all!

When you are tempted by wonderful claims, elaborate guaranties and a very low price to buy "cheap" paint, remember this:

"Cheap" paint sells at a low price because it is low in quality—poor stuff. That's the only reason a manufacturer can afford to sell at a low price.

By the gallon it costs you less. But don't let that fool you. It will cost you many times more than good old SWP on the wall—by the job and by the year—because it covers only about half the area per gallon and lasts only about half as long.

Come in and let us tell you the truth about the high cost of "cheap" paint—why SWP House Paint is the least expensive.

STATE MAN TO INSPECT CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Each Building in Marion Will Be Graded Under Set Standard

The public schools will be inspected next week by Dr. D. J. Ashe, representative of the State Department of Education.

This is a regular inspection trip for the purpose of grading each building in the city under a standard set up by the department. The survey of schools is general in character, covering all points of the educational system of the city.

Information on the school system, which has already been prepared by Supt. H. Mason, under a survey of which will be submitted to Dr. Ashe while he is here. This information consists in one part a set of maps of the city, showing the distribution of children throughout the city with reference to their grade in school.

Reference to these maps will show how each building in the city is situated with respect to the number of children in any grade or series of grades.

Map of Growth

Another map made up for the purpose of determining the trend of growth of the city shows in which section of the city the most building is being done. This map was made up from the building permits issued in the last 10 years, and gives an accurate idea of the growing districts from which can be predicted the future needs of the schools in that district.

Superintendent Mason is also conducting a survey of nearly 100 other cities and villages in Ohio, covering the financial end of the schools, to determine the relation of Marion to the school situation in the entire state. The survey deals with number of teachers employed in both general and special work, salaries and number of students. It is now partially completed.

Police tagged 27 automobiles for traffic code violations during the last week, the docket at Municipal Court showed this morning when the weekly traffic court session opened.

His name, as well as the names of others who failed to put in appearance at the opening of traffic court will be obtained from the license records and all will be brought in by police.

All of the tagged cars were owned by Marion residents with the exception of two from Columbus and one each from Galion, Canton, Kirkpatrick, Sandusky and Alliance.

RITZLER DITCH HEARING POSTPONED BY BOARD

Commissioners Set Back Date Until Afternoon of May 19 After Adjourned Session

Final hearing on the Ritzler ditch in Green Camp Township, petitioned for by Charles G. Ritzler, was postponed by the county commissioners Thursday until the afternoon of May 19, following an adjourned session.

The postponement was given to allow of plans and specifications on an extension of the ditch to be made for by County Surveyor C. R. Leavens. The extension petition was received by the county commissioners yesterday and granted.

As the extension of the project will affect the Erie Railroad the date had to be set back sufficient time to give the railroad due notice.

The contract for the filing cabinet needed in the probate court was let Thursday by the county commissioners to the Columbus Blank Book Co. Their bid was $402, the lowest of four bids submitted.

Kenton, April 15—The body of David Willis, Kenton, long sought in connection with the murder of a night watchman and the subsequent robbing of a department store in Findlay, was sent Thursday from Long Beach, Calif., where he met death Sunday night in an auto crash.

Although final deposition of the body of Mrs. Bernice Miller, Kenton, also killed in the Willis accident, had not been decided Thursday, it was understood that a brother was making arrangements to bring the body back East for burial. She, too, was wanted on Findlay murder and robbery charges.

Definite funeral arrangements for Willis are not to be completed until after the parents, Mr and Mrs. Edward Willis, Carroll st, learn definitely the time of the arrival here of the body. The services, it was said, will be private.

Die in Auto Crash

According to reports the two local people met death when their auto overturned near Long Beach. During the investigation that followed, police revealed that they had found a money belt, containing $700, on the body of Mrs. Miller. It was believed to be a part of the $8,000 loot obtained in the Findlay robbery.

The money belt and jewelry were produced at an inquest at which time the death of the pair was said to have been accidental. California dispatches reaching here said. Further search for alleged stolen money said to have been in the possession of Willis at the time of the accident was being conducted by the police today on the theory that the bodies had been robbed following the crash.

Former Vaudeville and Circus Tumbler is Now Successful Bucyrus Groceryman

BUCYRUS, April 15—From tumbling stunts on America's and Europe's best vaudeville stages to tumbling spuds in a Bucyrus grocery store is the path followed by D. S. Pope, 739 Russell-av and partner in the T. & O. C. grocery store, Woodlawn-av.

Born in Macedonia, Pope inherited the theatrical abilities of his race and early entered upon a stage career. Coming to the United States in 1900 he traveled with Buffalo Bill's show in 1907 doing trapeze stunts. He traveled with Buffalo Bill's for three years and during this time perfected his performances in preparation for vaudeville. At the end of the three years in Col. Cody's service he went to Liverpool, England, and appeared in English and continental cities until 1910 when he returned to his Balkan home and while there married Rada Vazanka in 1910.

Pope spent the next years near home showing on the stages of Sofia, Bucharest, Saloniki, Trieste, Fiume, Constantinople and Athens. In 1912 the Balkan war against Turkey closed the theaters and put guns in the hands of performers. Pope was drafted into the Greek army. In 1916, Pope's thoughts turned to America and soon he, his wife and son, Seraphin, were in Columbus where Pope lived while he played on the American stage for some time before coming to Bucyrus and buying a half interest in the local grocery store in 1919.

Fine Training

Whether acrobatic training for vaudeville is or is not the proper background for a successful grocer may be a debatable question. In Pope's case it has proved so. He believes that his early performances have aided him in his later business of tumbling flour barrels and juggling accounts without losing financial balance.

Pope is giving his sons acrobatic training and he says that they will be better than he. Seraphin, the older, is 14 but is already well known as an expert tumbler and dancer. Seraphin's work is not strictly amateur. He has appeared in theaters in Indianapolis, Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Columbus and Cincinnati and is booked with a New York company for this summer. Tommie, the youngest son, is eight years old. He is following fast in his father's footsteps and will soon be found before the footlights. He is to be billed in local amateur performances and is well received. Both boys are students in Bucyrus schools and are booked first with the school authorities for the time required to complete the course in the public schools. After leaving school Pope intends the boys to show in American theaters and afterwards in European playhouses.

Another son, Christ, is developing into a successful dancer but does not have acrobatic abilities.

To Show at Mt. Gilead

Seraphine and Tommie will show at Mt. Gilead Friday night, April 22. On Saturday and Sunday, April 23 and 24 and both Seraphin and Tommie will take part in the program at the meeting of the Mansfield district of the Macedonian Association at Mansfield. Pope is now retired from the stage except for occasional entertainments but he keeps in trim as the boys' trainer. Pope and Seraphin were born in Florina, Macedonia, then under Turkish rule, now a part of Greece. Tommie was born in Columbus. Pope's first booking in America was with Vlu Brothers of Syracuse, N. Y. Pope's Macedonian name is Popeoff but in Americanization he dropped the "off." The meaning remains the same.

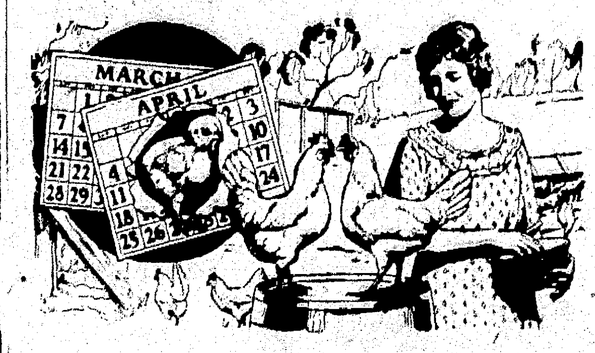
Feeding April chicks this way means a month's growth Free

[Many have found that Pratt-fed April chicks get to egg-production before March chicks fed any other way]



YOU are indeed fond of work if you ignore this chance to save practically a month's feed and attention to baby chicks.

For April hatched chicks need only to be started with Pratts Buttermilk Baby Chick Food and they'll start laying at least as soon as earlier chicks fed some other mixture—home or commercial.

If you want success with chicks feed them the way used by those who must make poultry pay a profit.

Nine-tenths of chick troubles—white diarrhea, leg weakness—bowel troubles—are avoided this way. The quickest growth consistent with health is attained. Runts, weak and sickly chicks are absent. The exact amount of all elements needed for bone, muscle, feather and health is in Pratts Buttermilk Baby Chick Food.

It is real baby food for baby chicks, with every ingredient carefully selected and processed so that it is mechanically predigested. As clean, pure and safe as the food you eat.

You can take your chicks safely through the baby stage by feeding Pratts. And if you want astonishing results in bringing them to the laying stage, use Pratts Buttermilk Growing Mash.

Pratts Baby Chick Food comes to you in 10, 25, 50 and 100-lb. bags, securely packed. Sold on Money-back guarantee by mills, dealers; feed and poultry supply dealers everywhere.

ANOTHER TEAM TO GET UNDER WAY SATURDAY

Marion Steam Shovel Diamond Will Be Scene of Great Activity

The baseball diamond at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. will be the scene of great activity Saturday afternoon when candidates for the Shovel team, together with a few for the Marion Athletics, turn out for batting and fielding practice.

It will be the first practice of the year for the Shovel crew and practically all the old timers are expected to be on hand. A few members of the city team will be present to get in a little extra practice while they have the opportunity.

The Shovel field is being rolled and a few of the "kinks" ironed out. The same treatment is being administered to the Lincoln Park diamond which will be in good condition for the Athletics Sunday afternoon.

Lots of Talents

All kinds of talent will be on hand for the Sunday afternoon session of the Athletics, it was learned today. If the weather is favorable, the men will get in a real practice.

Bill Hare of Columbus will be here. He's a catcher and probably will fill the place behind the bat in Marion's first game with Springfield, May 1. Opposition will be furnished by a catcher that Main will bring over from Ada. Both the Main boys, slab artists, will appear for the initial tryout of the season Sunday.

Tommy Daugherty of Galion will again appear at Lincoln Park Sunday, it was announced today. Tommy is out for third base and is rated as one of the best in semi-pro ball.

With these newcomers will be the regular "gang" and Manager Bacon is expecting a hot time at Lincoln Park during the second practice session of the season. The following week, the Sunday before the first game, the squad will have a little scrimmage. Signals may be worked out Sunday.

OHIO WESLEYAN ATHLETIC HEAD TO BE SPEAKER

George Gauthier, Well Known in Ohio Sport Circles, Is Engaged for Event

ONE of the best known men in Ohio college and university athletic circles, George Gauthier, athletic director of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, will be the chief speaker at the annual banquet of those interested in recreational ball in Marion, to be held next Tuesday night, in the First Reformed Church.

Mr. Gauthier, who has been head of athletics at the Delaware university for the last few years, is well-known by many local fans and athletes. He was formerly engaged with the Michigan Aggies. He will speak on athletics and their value, discussing a number of fine points in connection with the athletic world of today.

Reports state that a large number of tickets for the banquet have already been sold and the pasteboards are still going rapidly. All who are interested in recreational ball or any sport are invited to attend the banquet. Tickets may be procured from managers of various recreational ball teams in this city.

To Elect Commission

A new recreational ball commission will be elected for the coming year during the banquet. Managers of captains of the various teams that expect to join one of the local leagues will be eligible to vote for members of commission. A meeting of the new board of control may be called immediately following the banquet and efforts made to decide several of the most important issues of the season.

At present one of the greatest problems which is expected to arise concerns a sixth league of eight teams. Last year there were 40 teams and five leagues but a number of new teams are being formed and if all others again organize, five leagues will not accommodate all the outfits that will wish to enter.

Besides a number of Junior organizations that are rumored now, several new senior teams are to be organized, according to word received here.

New Company Has Team

The Gardener Tap & Die Co., formerly of Cleveland, which located here recently will undoubtedly apply for admission to a city league. The Cleveland crew was compelled to reorganize its team in nearly every department as a number of the regulars failed to move with the factory to Marion.

A few workouts this week showed the up-state bunch to be in a weak class, but the boys from the Die Co. hope to "snap out of it" and renew their usual form as displayed at Cleveland last season when they were second in a recreational league composed of industrial teams. The tentative lineup includes several local lads of well-known ability together with old-timers who came here from Cleveland with the company.

Ray Lempke is manager of the new team and batteries at present are Ed Barton and "Rut" Corbin. Others are Billy Smith, Anda Grega, Frank Soltis, Joe Straka, Willard Bean, Jim Crutcher and Wilbert Rauscher. Manager Lempke plays first base.

Other New Members

In addition to this outfit, rumors are being heard about the Retail Merchants preparing to form a team. And then the American Legion has also added its name to the list, according to a report coming from the general meeting of that body Wednesday night.

It is said that a number of churches are putting two teams in the field this year, but the only case of that nature has been reported to this department.

Many recreational teams are holding workouts on available diamonds whenever weather will permit and a number of practice games have already been played. Diamonds are being put into shape for the regular league games, which are expected to get under way within the next month.

TENNIS ACTIVITIES ARE SEEN AT STEAM SHOVEL

W. Brosheck in Charge of Racquet Welders This Season; Courts Are Rolled

W. Brosheck is in charge of tennis at the Marion Steam Shovel this season, and plans for early tournaments to get the men in shape are being formed it was announced today.

Tennis courts are being rolled and put into shape for the season and as soon as weather conditions permit, the racket wielders will be on the job. Tennis was a popular sport at the Steam Shovel last year.

ENTER RELAYS

Members of Wooster Team Are Named For C. A. C. Relays Saturday

Wooster, O., April 15—The Wooster College two-mile relay team, which is to compete against Ohio State in a feature event at the C. A. C. relays in the public auditorium at Cleveland Saturday will consist of Captain Maurice Crothers, Don Raley, Richard Paul and Warren Griffiths.

Wooster will also enter the one mile relay and the team will be Captain Crothers, and three sophomores, Hanna from New Philadelphia, Harding from Franklin, and Monroe from Celina.

In the try-outs Tuesday evening Hanna ran the fastest quarter mile ever to be covered by a Wooster College runner. He did the lap in 50.6 seconds which is 1.2 seconds faster than the mark set by Harry Cotton in 1920 and equalled by Captain Crothers two years ago.

"HERB" AND "URB"

URBAN SHOCKER — HERB PENNOCK

Upon the shoulders and pitching arms of these two vets rests much of the responsibility for the showing of the Yanks this season. Pennock, left-handed wizard, was his team's biggest winner last season. Shocker's work was almost as brilliant. If both come through this year the Yanks' chances of retaining the league title will be tightened.

Jack Scott Beats Giants' Sluggers as Grimes Slips

New York, April 15—John McGraw, whose acquisition of Pitcher Burleigh Grimes was hailed as a "master stroke," was beginning to fear today that he was short-changed in the deal. For Farmer Jack Scott, who went to the Phillies in the trade which brought Grimes from Brooklyn to the Giants, beat McGraw's sluggers single handed while the Phils were knocking the belligerent Burleigh loose from his toenails.

In addition to holding his former mates to two earned runs, Farmer Jack raised havoc with his bat. He made four hits, one a home run, and drove in four runs. The score was 9 to 6, and incidentally Hornsby and Roush went hitless.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the Reds again, 6 to 2, and gained undisputed possession of first place.

The Boston Braves jumped to second place by downing Brooklyn again, 7 to 3. Dazzy Vance was shelled from the mound while Foster Edwards, ex-Dartmouth hurler, demonstrated the advantages of higher education to the Robins.

In the American League, the Athletics achieved a moral victory by holding the Yankees to a 9 to 9 tie in 10 innings. Eddie Rommel was given a four run lead but couldn't stand the prosperity. When darkness ended the slugfest, eight pitchers in all had been carried off the field. Sammy Hale led the hitters with four blows.

The Senators made it two straight from Boston, winning 5 to 2. Hollis Thurston, former White Sox pitcher, held the Red Sox to four hits.

The White Sox almost beat Cleveland again with a ninth inning rally. The venerable Sherry Smith, relieving Bennie Karr with two on base, retired the next three men and Cleveland won 3 to 2. Karr, supposedly a second string hurler, pitched brilliantly for eight innings.

Adverse weather conditions prevented the Cardinals, Cubs, Browns and Tigers from playing. The Tigers and Browns have yet to play a league contest.

PLANS MANUFACTURE OF PASSENGER AIRPLANES

New York, April 15—Charles A. Levine, chairman of the board of directors of the Columbia Aircraft Corp. said today that should he purchase the Rickenbacker Motor plant in Detroit, passenger-carrying airplanes would be turned out. Levine bid $1,050,000 for the plant, and he said he believed the federal court would approve it within a week.

WESLEYAN ATHLETES IN SPRING CAMPAIGN

Rounding into Shape After 10-Day Vacation; Ready for Three Sports

Delaware, O., April 15—Refreshed after a 10-day spring vacation which terminated Monday, Ohio Wesleyan's athletes this week are rounding into shape for the spring campaigns in baseball, track and tennis.

Thirty-five contests in the three sports are ahead of the Bishop athletes. There are 18 games on the baseball schedule, eight meets in which the trackstars will take part and nine matches on the tennis program.

The baseball team, just back from a victorious southern jaunt into Tennessee and Kentucky, will meet Ohio State at Columbus Thursday afternoon in the first tilt on the regular schedule. Although Coach George Staten's material is green, it showed up to good advantage in the games down south and it bids fair to make a strong bid for the Buckeye association bunting.

Ten of the 18 diamond tilts are with Buckeye association teams and the majority of the remainder with other Ohio conference nines. Ohio State will be met twice.

Participation in the Ohio relays at Columbus on Saturday, April 23, will mark the start of the season for the seanticlads, following which they will compete in either the Drake relays at Des Moines or the Penn relays at Philadelphia, both of which are on Saturday, April 30. Dual meets with Ohio State, W. & J. and Miami are included on the program.

The tennis team began its season against Ohio State at Columbus Tuesday.

Does Return of Johnson Presage New Fight?

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

The Johnson "menace" hangs over major league baseball as the circuits get under way for what seems destined—no overt acts forestalling—to be one of the greatest seasons in the game's history.

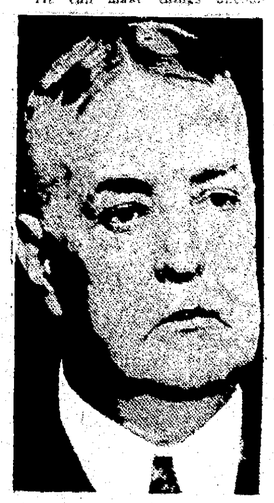
The Johnson "menace" looms as a result of the return to Chicago of Ban Johnson, deposed chief of the American League, thorn in the side of Judge Landis and the prime mover in throwing to the four winds of heaven the smudge pot of baseball chicanery.

Johnson has re-entered his work at Chicago, announcing that his restored health will permit it. This despite the fact that he was "let down" easy last winter by Landis and the baseball moguls by being granted a leave of absence and relieved of his office duties through the designation of Frank Navin, Detroit club owner, as acting president of the American League.

"What will Johnson do?" one mogul repeated my question as the season opened.

"I wish I knew. We're not afraid of him, except from the standpoint of what he can do, to rock the game again, just when the public's faith has been restored through time and the erasure of the sore spots and the enthusiasm of the opening of the season.

"He can make things uncomfortable for us if he wants to. And the worst part of it is that because of his actions in the past we've come to feel that we can't depend upon him."



This feeling was expressed to me by an American League official who has always staunchly supported Johnson and still speaks openly of Johnson's past services to the league.

The feeling lurks in baseball circles that Johnson will attempt to get into the harness before the joint meeting of the major leagues in June—and be prepared at that time to wage another battle to "come back" as the American League's guiding genius.

I have it on the same unimpeachable authority that the league is determined to go through with its plan to name his successor. The probabilities are that Johnson will be retained in an honorary capacity for life at a handsome honorarium. But if he fights the next move to bench him, what then?

As the baseball season swings under way the fear that Johnson, still carrying his dogged determination and dominating spirit, will "upset the works" hovers over the American League. The problem of selecting a man to succeed him worries the league heads little.

Jack Dempsey Already is Trained to Within Five Pounds of Fighting Weight

Not Physical Wreck That Physicians Claimed He Would Be and He Has Not Yet Undergone Any Operation Recommended by Physical Advisors

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, April 15—Ostensibly far from being the picturesque ruin that close distance critics claim to have seen, Jack Dempsey already has trained himself within five pounds of his fighting weight, according to word received here today direct from the ex-champion at his Wheeler Hot Springs camp in northern California. He proclaimed his present weight to be 201 pounds, said he was "feeling great," which is number No. 2 in the customary Dempsey interview; and declared that he believed his comeback can be achieved without undergoing the operation his physicians deem to be necessary.

Dempsey, it seems, has ignored defense in his early preparations. It has been all attack with him and, like the man who was born on Feb. 22, he has done it will his little hatchet. Cherry is barred as a bit effeminate or something, but bird's-eye maple, mahogany and Circassian walnut have fallen in great profusion.

The boy friend, in brief, has heard about the overemphasis laid upon woodchopping in this section and, being a young, ambitious fellow, is willing to begin absolutely at the beginning and see what good may come of it.

Loses Nine Pounds

So far, nothing has been lost by the experiment except a lot of California forestry and about nine pounds of Dempsey's weight. According to his own story, his condition is just about where he wants it to be, and, in the course of a few weeks, he will be ready to begin intensive training.

The fact that Dempsey carried so little superuous weight, comparatively speaking, and was able to lose it so readily, hardly supports the contention that physically he is the old eye wash. Still, you can't laugh off that series of skin eruptions and neither can he; at least, not until he has shown that he is able to knock over something slightly more agile than a tree. The latter is a good judge of distance but its footwork is terrible.

It may be well, in fact, to keep both the band wagon and the ambulance in the stable, pending further developments. Dempsey was told in no uncertain terms by his physicians a few weeks ago that his condition then precluded any possibility of a successful return to boxing. He was advised that an operation was expedient if an imperfect recovery from a previous operation in 1923 was to be corrected.

Curing Himself

Being an "ex-miner" himself, he naturally knew that this was the bunk; so he told the medicos to turn their attention to something important while he went about the formality of curing himself at Wheeler Hot Springs.

His message today indicates that he considers the cure to have been effective, which leads us to wonder whether Dempsey hasn't something in common with surgeons who wire the following to friends and relatives:

"Operation highly successful but patient died."

Cleveland Indians Again Win While All Other Ohio Teams Go Down in Defeat

Sherry Smith Saves Day for Cleveland When He Relieves Karr in Ninth Inning; Final Score 3 to 2, with White Sox Victims; Pirates Beat Cincy Reds, 6 to 2

CLEVELAND Indians again composed the only Ohio baseball team in the major and minor leagues to come through with a victory in scheduled games yesterday. The Indians won the third tilt of the season from the Chicago White Sox 3 to 2, while Cincinnati Reds were losing to Pittsburg Pirates, 6 to 2. Columbus and Toledo in the American Association lost to Kansas City and Milwaukee respectively for the second time in the first series of the season.

Sherry Smith, acting as relief pitcher for Karr in the ninth inning won the game for Cleveland when the Indians were about to blow. The White Sox had one run counted in the last frame and two on base, when Smith downed the next three men to bat. Chicago used five pinch-hitters in the last inning.

Lee Meadows pitching ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates was in perfect working form yesterday, in the Cincinnati tilt. He allowed eight hits scattered well over the nine innings. The Pirates won the game in the third when bunched hits accounted for three runs. Mays was on the mound for the Reds.

Columbus Senators battled the Kansas City Blues until the eleventh inning and then went down to a 4 to 3 defeat. The Senators used four pitchers and Kansas City engaged three during the fray. Lear of the Brewers ruined Toledo in the final frame when he doubled with the bases full. Two men crossed the plate.

RAICHLEY WILL CASE HEARING EXPECTED SOON

Definite Information on Date Anticipated from U. S. Court in Near Future

Definite information is expected within the next two weeks regarding the probable date that the United States Supreme Court will hear arguments in the suit brought to set aside the will of Burr Raichley, Marion man who left the bulk of his $250,000 estate to the Marion Masonic Temple Co.

Decisions in two lower federal courts have been against relatives of Raichley who are contesting the will and who have filed an application for a review of the case in the nation's highest tribunal. Attorneys for the executors of the will and its beneficiaries have filed their brief in the supreme court and arguments of attorneys will be the next step in the proceedings.

Whether the supreme court will hear these arguments before the summer recess of the court will probably be ascertained within the next two weeks, it was indicated today by persons interested in the case. Should the court calendar prevent a hearing prior to the recess, the arguments will not be scheduled until after Sept. 1.

Relatives Bring Suit

Raichley died in 1924, his will having been drawn up several weeks prior to the date of his death. The suit to set it aside was brought by Frederick Raichley and Mrs. May Berg, cousins of the deceased. Both lower courts ruled against them on the ground that federal tribunals have no jurisdiction in the case, the claim being that it comes solely within the jurisdiction of Ohio courts.

James H. Eymon, John H. Bartram, Mouser, Young & Mouser and Guthery, Strelitz & Guthery, all Marion attorneys, are counsel for the executors and heirs and William P. Moloney of this city and attorneys in Kansas City and Toledo represent Mrs. Berg and Frederick Raichley.

BLAZE IN SKY THRILLS GOTHAM

Photo shows thrilling night spectacle in New York—the burning of scaffolding on the upper stories of the uncompleted 38-story Sherry-Netherland Apartment Hotel at Fifth-av and Fifty-Ninth-st, across from the beginning of Central Park. Firemen could get little water to reach the blaze, which was visible for miles. Thousands of persons stood in Central Park and the plaza at the head of the park observing the flames "licking at the sky."

Coal Traffic Through Here Will be Heavier Than Ever With New Connection Claim

Hocking Valley To Hookup with Chesapeake & Ohio Line; Link Is Expected To Be Completed and Ready for Operation by Next Fall

Coal traffic through Marion to the Great Lakes over the Hocking Valley Railroad will be heavier than ever before following the completion of a direct connection between the Hocking Valley and the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, expected to be completed and in operation next fall.

The new connecting line is being built from Gregg, Pike County, to Valley Crossing, Franklin County, a distance of 63 miles, it was stated here today.

The road will be double tracked the full length with 100-pound rail. It will also have five center sidings, each capable of holding 125 cars. It will be a low grade line, matched northbound with the Toledo division, which passes through Marion. There will be two water stations but no coal stations on the line.

Cost $12,500,000

The cost of this construction will be approximately $12,500,000, or about $200,000 per mile of double track.

All grade crossings will be eliminated, both for highways and railroads. There are 41 highway crossings to go over or under and five railroad crossings that the new line will go over. There are 57 bridges, requiring 10,000 tons of structural steel.

The 63 miles have been divided into eight sections with a general contractor in charge of each section. The first actual work was done last November and the line is expected to be ready for operation by September.

2,000 Men at Work

At present there are 2,000 men engaged in the construction work of this line.

The new connection is being built under the corporate name of the Chesapeake & Hocking. The line for the greater part traverses rich farming territory. In a general way it follows the Scioto Valley, lying wholly to the eastward of it. It will link up existing lines from the larger cities of the northwest and the Atlantic seaboard.

The construction of this connection is going to bring into existence a complete railroad from the coal producing states of Kentucky and West Virginia to the Great Lakes and the north and northwestern parts of the country. A railroad of low grade, operating as one system, will furnish the opportunity to move coal in solid trains from West Virginia to the Lakes, through this city, without switching and at fast time.

It is estimated that the tonnage of coal originating along the Chesapeake & Ohio will in the next five years reach 30,000,000 tons annually, and a large part of this should pass through the Columbus gateway and Marion on the trip north.

Schedule Effective

The new city street car schedule went into operation today as announced. The cars followed the regular schedule during the day and made good connections at switches.

FIGHTING CRIME COSTING CITIES $220,000,000

Ohio Cities Are Prominently Named in Figures from Bureau of Census

BY ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, April 15—Combatting crime is an ever-increasing cost to municipal governments of United States, according to a survey of 217 cities representing 35 per cent of the country's population recently completed by the Bureau of the Census.

In 1925 the per capita cost of these activities amounted to $5.41 with a total of $220,241,000, as compared with $3.04 and $94,869,000 for 204 cities in 1915.

General living costs have contributed much to the increase although officials said that greater crime activity is disclosed by the statistics.

"The large increases in the cost for police service, criminal courts, correctional institutions and probation boards are presented in the financial statistics of the principal cities of United States," the report said.

Court Costs Extra

"The judicial costs are only partially represented in expenditures of city governments, as criminal costs in superior courts are generally a charge upon the state or county, the exception being in the cities having a population of more than 300,000 where they exercise the ordinary functions of county governments."

In combatting crime in the 217 cities surveyed in 1925 the following expenditures were made:

Police departments, $157,194,000; Police pensions, $11,185,052; Probation boards, $1,836,000; General Courts, $10,779,000; Coroner's Court, $771,715; Marshal and Sheriffs Courts, $4,454,000; Superior Courts, $10,729,000; Correctional Institutions, Adults, $10,245,000, Minors, $4,103,084.

Police cost per capita in 1925 amounted to $3.86. The expenditures for this department alone represented 10.3 per cent of the cost of maintenance and operation of all general departments of cities studied, being next in importance to that for schools, which constituted 37.5 per cent of the expenditures.

Police Service Costs

"The increase from $2.08 per capita for police service in 1915, is due not only to increased compensation for policemen, but also to the increase in the number of those assigned to direction of traffic," the report said.

The cities showing the highest and lowest per capitas for operation of police departments in 1925 were:

Population over 500,000: Boston, $5.96 and Cleveland, Ohio, 3.41.

Population from 300,000 to 500,000: Jersey City, $8.44 and Cincinnati, $2.41.

Population from 100,000 to 300,000: Yonkers, N. Y., $5.93 and Canton, Ohio, $1.48.

Population 50,000 to 100,000: Atlantic City, N. J., $10.76 and Springfield, Ohio, $1.08.

Population from 30,000 to 50,000: New Rochelle, N. Y., $6.24 and Hazelton, Pa., 92 cents.

It was explained that in the case of Atlantic City the figures are based on the estimated population which represents only the number of permanent residents. The city, however, must make provision for a population augmented by visitors and temporary residents.

HARVARD MEN REENACT SOUTH BRAINTREE CRIME

Chose Anniversary of Slaying To Determine Parmenter Case Point

Boston, April 15—Today was the seventh anniversary of the slaying of Paymaster Frederick Parmenter and Eli guard, Alessandro Baradelli, in South Braintree, and a group of Harvard men assembled to reenact the crime for which Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were convicted and sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Students were assigned to represent all characters in the Parmenter case. Five men in an automobile, such as the payroll robbers used, were to swoop down into South Braintree and three students from the Slater and Morrill shoe factory were in the role as witnesses.

The purpose of the test was to determine whether witnesses could have observed the shooting from the shoe factory windows.

A majority of the students were members of the Harvard Liberal Club. The test was said to have the approval of Professor Felix Frankfurter and his associates of the Harvard law school. The professor has taken an active part in the Sacco-Vanzetti defense.

-o- The New Book -o-

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

FEW novels have given the instant recognition and deviating comment that was the lot of Sinclair Lewis' new novel, "Elmer Gantry," just published by Harcourt, Brace and Co. Lewis power to satirize various phases of American life has been employed with even more zest in "Elmer Gantry"; this time the victim of his irony being an evangelist and preacher, sprung from small-town folk, similar to those Lewis had satirized, even ridiculed, in his earlier novel, "Main Street." With "Elmer Gantry" Lewis retained a few staunch friends but aroused a storm of protest almost unexampled in the history of American novels. For it was thought in criticizing the preacher, a man of God, the church, an institution of God. Lewis used his ability to an improper end.

He did not, as many have suggested, satirize religion. The object of his irony was the church, the "howling" type of evangelist, and the hypocrite who professes to be a man of God but secretly lives a life of unrighteousness.

Such a man was Elmer Gantry, essentially a hypocrite, and a minister because he found himself gifted with oratorical powers and because the ministry, as he lived it would be an easy means of earning a livelihood.

Elmer did not choose the ministry as his profession, it was thrust upon him while he was an immoral law student at college. Elmer himself was "saved" at a college revival and persuaded to enter the ministry. His own reflections on the subject as he started home about the night he publicly conquered sin, best explains his position.

"Wouldn't it be swell to be a preacher of you had a big church and—lot easier than digging out law cases and having to put it over a jury and another maybe smarter'n you are. The crowd have to swallow what to tell 'em in a pulpit and no back talk or cross-examination allowed. Not nice to talk that way. Even if a fellow don't do what's right himself, no excuse for his sneering at fellows that do, like preachers."

* * *

DISTRIBUTION of the book was checked in Boston, which was doubtless only a beginning of its suppression. Two copies are at the present time available at the library but no additional copies, as originally planned, will be purchased by that institution.

Someone has spoken of Lewis as a "second Dickens." Perhaps. At least he has proven his ability to picture life . . . humanly, and to produce a smoothly and beautifully-written book. He accomplishes his satirical purposes, too, pernicious as they are, else why stimulate honest and pious criticism?

Lewis has been recommended by many of the best critics and denounced by many others, equally good. Although he did attack the church and the ministry and leave a somewhat bitter taste in our mouths, he has produced a book, which, regardless of subject matter, is almost faultless in technique and worthy of consideration, if for no other, for that reason alone.

The list includes, "In Sunny Spain" by Bates; "Surprise House" by Brown; "Katrina" by Deland, "Rocky Fork" by Catherwood; "Boy Scouts of Berkshire" by Eaton; "Admiral's Little Secretary" by Gould; "Princess and the Clan" by Piper; "Castaways of Pete's Patch" by Rankin; "Talking Leaves" and "Little Smoke" by Stoddard; and a new copy of "Gulliver's Travels" by Swift.

Popular books of last week are "The Old Countess" by Anne Douglas Sedgwick, "Elmer Gantry" by Sinclair Lewis, "Black April" by Julia Peterkin, "Love is Enough" by Frances Brett Young," "Tomorrow Morning" by Anne Parrish and "Doomsday" by Warwick Deeping.

Of the non-fiction class the best-sellers were "Revolt of the Desert" by T. E. Lawrence, "Napoleon" by Emil Ludwig, and "Everything and Anything" by Dorothy Aldis.

BOOKS PRAISED BY BOOKMAN

Of the books recommended in the Bookman's monthly score, the following are available at City Library. "The Show Boat" by Edna Ferber; "An American Tragedy" by Theodore Dreiser; "Dark Dawn" by Martha Ostenso; "Galahad" and "The Private Life of Helen of Troy" by John Erskine; "Beau Gests" and "Beau Sabreur" by P. C. Wren; "Sorrell and Son," by Wadwick Deeping; "Labels" by A. Hamilton Gibbs; and "The Silver Spoon" by John Galsworthy.

The non-fiction books includes on that list and available at the library are "The Story of Philosophy" by Durant; "Why We Behave Like Human Beings" by Dorsey; "The Book Nobody Knows" and "The Man Nobody Knows" by Barton; "The Royal Road to Romance" by Halliburton; "Our Times" by Sullivan; "The Revolt of Modern Youth" by Lindsey and Evans; "Abraham Lincoln" by Sanburg; "Microbe Hunters" by DeKruif; and "The Mauve Decade" by Beer.

THUS began his career as a minister of the gospel in the Baptist faith. Later on after being expelled from the ministry in that denomination, he took up a career as evangelist when he met an ardent and beautiful young woman who traveled about "bringing souls to God" and who was willing to admit him to her troupe. Here Lewis overdoes himself, and, in his vigorous attempt to portray the character of those same middle west evangelists exaggerates, a quality as yet undiscovered in his novels.

Lewis shows poor taste in dwelling at length on Gantry's many and licentious love affairs when crop up at intervals throughout the book. He is finally married to a good and unhappy young woman who fails to see him as the hypocrite he is until after marriage. He later takes up his work as minister, this time as a Methodist, and his sensational rise to power, his illicit swindling methods of gaining power and prestige, which remind one of the greed and rivalry often to be found in the business world, take up the remainder of the book.

In "Main Street" Lewis satirized the small-town folk of the middle west, in "Babbitt," the none too perfect American business man, and in "Arrowsmith," the doctor. All of the above-mentioned books were hailed as best sellers. With the publication of "Elmer Gantry," an amused and interested public clamored to know who next had fallen victim to his merciless pen, and, when they discovered he had attacked the minister a man of God, had dared to criticize the church, an institution of God, their smiles faded into disgust. Yes, Lewis sinned. In his attempt to achieve reality he exaggerated and justly excited a wave of criticism. His desire to picture humanity as it is—to present the defects in life when others are prone to adhere to its beauties of tragedies caused him to overlook the fact that righteousness is also a prevalent and predominating factor in life.

EDNA FERBER'S NEW BOOK

Edna Ferber, whose "Show Boat" and "So Big" have achieved such phenomenal success is the author of a new book, "Mother Knows Best," which will be published April 15 by Doubleday, Page and Co. The book is made up of eight short sketches, each one of them a "novel in itself" as one critic has said.

Each story is as successful in incident, background and character portrayal as are her novels. The characters too, are of that humbler class which predominate in her stories. They live just outside the yards in Chicago, in the narrow apartments of west side New York or along the tracks in an unpainted cottage in Kansas.

NEW SITES BOOK DUE THIS SPRING

Among the promising books to be published this spring by the Robert M. McBride and Co are "Intimate Acrobatics" by Lord Sites, the work of a young American writer and a tale concerned with the adventures of a group of Americans who flit back and forth between Paris and Park Avenue with frivolous unconcern. "The Garden of Redemption" by William E. Royden, another of the books, is the romance of a timid man, who, when put to the test, displays unsuspected courage. It has been called a "Prisoner of Zenda" type of story.

A recent publication was Maxim Gorky's "Decadence," which is prominent among the best sellers.

It is said more boys are born after a war. They grow up in time to be ready for the next one.

Life for Senate Probers, Result of Dawes' Decision

Jim Reed's Committee Becomes Frankenstein for Solons Who Created It

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, April 15—Now that Vice President Charles G. Dawes has breathed the breath of what may prove to be eternal life into Senator Jim Reed's slush fund investigating committee, Reed's expected back to Washington, as soon as he can get away from the Ford-Sapiro trial, to begin to make the most of his opportunities.

The way Reed fought to keep that committee alive, just before congress adjourned, and the corresponding fury with which the other side fought, to cooloform it, suggest that its subsequent activities promise—or threaten—still worse revelations than its past ones.

The committee has raised Cain thus far mainly in connection with the 1926 Republican senatorial primaries and the subsequent elections in Illinois and Pennsylvania.

However, there are plenty of other states to be delved into, and earlier elections, too, and it may be later ones.

• • •

THE committee literally the way Dawes has fixed it, is in a position to go on forever, if it chooses.

It was a creation of the sixty-ninth congress, which ended last March, and promptly proceeded to devote itself principally to ripping Senator-elect Frank L. Smith of Illinois up his political back and to lifting the political scalp of Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania.

It's pretty generally agreed that Reed accomplished these two objects, though the final verdict won't be announced until the senate has held an inquest over Smith's ad Vare's remains, if any, next December.

• • •

UNFORTUNATELY, as Reed viewed, it, he and his fellow committeemen were kept so busy with the Smith and Vare cases, up to the time that the sixty-ninth congress expired, that they hadn't had much chance to deal with other elgibles.

"Therefore," said Reed, "the committee will have to go on with its work after adjournment. Several more backs are marked for the ripping up process and several more scalps are ripe to be lifted."

And he introduced a resolution extendin the committee's life indefinitely.

"Oh, no," rejoined a group of senators who were getting sick of it, and they filibustered the Reed resolution to death. That is, they didn't allow it to come to a vote and it went into the discard with the sixty-ninth congress.

• • •

"WELL," said Reed, "a senate committee's a permanent institution, anyway. That resolution would have been nice, but it wasn't necessary.

"It was, too," insisted the successful filibusters. "Your committee's extinct. A committee quits when congress does."

This is true of a house of representatives' committee, for an entirely fresh lower house is elected for each succeeding congress. The representatives' terms all begin and end together, and when their terms end naturally their committees end.

But the senate's what's known as a "continuing body." Only a third of its members' terms expire at a clatter. The others hold over. Consequently the senate never dies. Query: What, then, becomes of its committees?

• • •

IT was a point for Dawes to decide, as presiding officer of the senate.

After thinking the matter over carefully, Dawes has ruled for Reed—let the senate once create a committee, and until that committee gets ready, the senate can't get rid of it.

Its personnel may change—Senator Goff did, in fact, resign from the slush fund committee but, senatorially speaking, it's the same old committee.

Behold a senate Frankenstein!

BARGES FOR MISSISSIPPI AID TO RIVER TRAFFIC

Moline, Ill., April —Six of the steel barges to be placed in service on the Mississippi river, between St. Louis and as far north of Moline as the river will permit, now are completed and will be placed in ocration soon.

These boats, built at Dubuque, Ia., will be operated in conjunction with the federal barge line between St. Louis and New Orleans. Additional barges will be constructed, if the traffic warrants.

These barges are of an advanced type and capable of operating when the water is at low stage, carrying 250 tons at a 4 foot depth and 500 tons when the water is higher.

It is hoped that eventually traffic will be such that fifteen or more of the boats will be operated.

There is no denying the importance of the equality that the use of the bathtub makes among all men.

Trots Globe at 92

At 90, William H. Zimmerman, 92, of Santa Ana, Calif., had never been on a boat. Then he took an ocean trip and his family has had difficulty in keeping him on land ever since. He has made trips to Alaska, Panama and Hawaii with shorter voyages sandwiched in between.

Rich—
in flavor and as body-building food

Little differences in eating often make a big difference in results. Children grow normally and older persons feel really energetic and well, only when they get what all need from their food.

Minerals, vitamins, bran—too often these health essentials are neglected in planning meals. That is why nutrition experts are now saying that the whole-grain foods are so much better.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats, with milk, supplies an abundance of important nourishing elements. For it is made from the real whole-grain; it is not robbed of its original health substances, as so many too-highly refined cereals are; it is complete.

And oh, how smoothly Quick Mother's Oats cooks, due to the extra care used in preparation!

Two kinds—the kind you have always known as Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, good for many things you want—silverware, etc.

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

Today was Friday and there isn't ... school this week, and if it ... for having to have my face and ... washed and having to go to Sun... school I wouldn't have anything ... but to feed and milk two cows ... clean one horse and one stable.

It had been raining when I let Jubi... ... by the rope in his teeth this ... but it had stopped, only there ... puddle under the window for him ... his bussel into, but he don't ... it so much when there is not any ... snow. It is funny how all the ... snow goes away in the summer ... I bet that about the time school ... and the water is warm enough ... a fella to go swimming there will ... much grass that I will have to ... the cows back and forth to the ... It is a good thing there is a ... in the pasture.

My father said at the breakfast table ... morning that if Mr. Farrel and the ... man had come over at some time ... he didn't have to go to work he ... of tore him limb from limb, and ... ant looked proud, because my father ... brother, and my mother didn't ... proud, but she laughed, and my ... asted her what she was laugh... at and she said she was thinking ... time I was a baby and old man ... came home lit up and spent ... night prancing up and down ... his house and our'n hollering for ... father to come out and get his ... cut out, and my father crawled ... of a side window and helped her ... with me, and they all went to her ... sister's to stay all night; and how her ... sister's husband who was about as big ... a nickel's worth of peanuts, came ... with them next day and called ... Flannagan out and slapped all the ... taste out of his mouth, and my father ... got red and asted me why I wasn't eating. My grandfather told him he could call Farrel out Sunday when he didn't have to go to work, and my father said he hoped he was not the man to desecrate the Subbath.

I think my grandfather was pleased. When my father and unkle had went he gave my mother twenty dollars and told her to get her something for Easter.

He told her to get her something for Easter

I asted her if she was going to spend it for eggs and she said she wasn't. Today was the first time we saw Mush since his wife made him take his clothes back to the second-hand store and get his old ones back. The lady had cut the legs off the pants to make skirts for her little girl, and they were sewed back on so crooked that Mush's legs looked twisted. I went to bed early.

Peter's Adventures

A Story for Boys and Girls

BY FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

STEWARD OF THE FAMILY STORES

"Where in the world did you get that nut?"

No wonder the boy was surprised. A moment before Chipmunk had been talking to him, mouth wide open, and now the fellow sat upon his haunches carefully picking out meats from a walnut he held in his two front paws.

"You have not been off that fence to gather any, I am certain of that. Surely you've not had it all the time, or I should have seen it before. Besides you asked me if I had any nuts almost as soon as you saw me." Peter was puzzled.

Chipmunk did not answer at first. He went on cracking and crunching, but finally he threw away the last bit of shell and swallowed the last morsel of nut and then he stretched himself and smacked his lips and chuckled.

"You never can tell how many kernels a Chipmunk has on hand by the kernels you can see," he winked a saucy eye at Peter. "Of course I had that nut with me all the time—it was tucked away inside my cheek and if you had had any to give me I could have tucked them inside my pouches and carried them around with me without a bit of trouble. You have no idea how wide I can stretch my mouth. Stuffed as full of nuts as it seems to be, there is always room for one more nut inside!"

"Are nuts your only food?" asked Peter, curiosity getting the better of his good manners.

"Good gracious, no!" answered Chipmunk hastily. "Have you ever tried to live on one food for very long? It grows mighty unappetizing after a while, let me tell you. No siree! I like variety in my meals and I eat grain and fruit whenever I can get them. But of course I do like nuts best of all. So does my wife. As for the children—you ought to watch them gobble down the kernels. It does my heart good to see how they enjoy their meals. They always have such fun at feeding time. By the way, Boy, the only way for squirrel folks to keep in good condition is to eat often and much. I am too wise a Chipmunk to let winter catch me with an empty larder. I work from daylight 'til dark all autumn long to fill up the pantry shelves and when cold weather comes I rest. There is nothing for me to do but to nibble and snooze, snooze and nibble! We Chipmunks are a lazy family in winter time but we are safe and snug and happy in our home way down beneath the frost line. I am the steward of the family stores. Upon me depends the lives of my dear ones and I never fail in my duty. I'll bet you there is no Chipmunk in these parts that can beat me at gathering nuts or at packing them away, either!"

Peter had been listening closely to Chipmunk's words and now he asked his new friend a question.

"I should think you would be afraid of not laying in enough food to last your family through the winter. Suppose the winter should be a long one and your family should be hungry and your stores run low and you were snowed in and couldn't get out to find any more food—what would you do then?"

"Strange how you should have struck the nail on the head." "For a second Chipmunk looked sad. "That is the greatest worry a Chipmunk ever has. There is always danger of that very thing happening—sometimes it does. Under its white snow blanket the ground freezes so hard that not even a gray squirrel can scratch his way out of his shelter. Then if Mr. and Mrs. Chipmunk have been lazy and have not gathered their nuts and grain while they could, they and their babies starve in their underground home. If they have been wise and busy, though, they need not give the winter a thought but sleep and eat until the cold weather is all over. Then when the snows melt they come up for a breath of air. I am a wise steward. I watch the pantry shelves and I keep refilling them every day just as long as they can—a little at a time. Even in winter's mild days there is something to be found if one goes abroad to look for it and one's front door is not snowed up of course—a nut here, a berry there, a bit of fruit somewhere else. I do credit to my name if I do it myself. It is Tamias, and if you do not know you ought to—Tamias means steward."

Do You Have These Symptoms?

Folks Near or Past Forty Should Watch These Danger Signs

Dizziness, headaches, shortness of breath, distress after eating, gas in stomach and bowels, pressure or sharp pains in right side that often shoot through to the back, coated tongue, bad breath, lack of ambition, weakness, nervousness and nights of restless misery caused by bad dreams or inability to sleep—these are some of "The Danger Signals" indicating hepatic torpidity, gall stones or gall bladder inflammation.

Thousands of lives have been wrecked and other thousands made thoroughly miserable—because they did not heed these warning signs in time. Women in their "Forties" are particularly liable to these troubles and hundreds who think they have high blood pressure are simply suffering from hepatic torpidity or gall bladder inflammation.

Don't take a chance on gall stones and don't let your system get filled with poison that may cause months or even years of miserable ill health. At the very first warning sign ask Bradley Drug Store or any other good druggist for "Klax-Ko" tablets and be assured of swift and positive relief or your money promptly refunded. Klax-Ko tablets have brought new life and health to hundreds who thought they had some dangerous internal trouble—and in many instances have saved the pain and expense of an operation for gall stones. Ten days use will convince you of their merit and value in your particular case. Try them today!—Adv.

SAPIRO LIBEL SUIT ADJOURNS UNTIL MONDAY

Ford Counsel Wants To Show "Co-op King" Allowed Warehouse Men Huge Profits

Detroit Mich., April 15—With the million dollar Ford-Sapiro libel trial adjourned until Monday attorneys for Henry Ford today marshalled evidence to show that Aaron Sapiro so called co-operative king, permitted warehouse owners to profit at the expense of farmers in his Kentucky Burley Tobacco Association.

This evidence will make the "big gest gun" in the Ford defense against Sapiro's suit for damages. By the co-operative King's activities among tobacco farmers, if nowhere else, the Ford attorneys hoped to prove he exploited American farmers as was charged in Ford's Dearborn Independent.

Sapiro will have his inning later when he again testifies on redirect examination. Then, he will explain not only his connection with the tobacco co-operatives but with all other farm organizations. He will present evidence tending to show his co-operative movement benefited the farmers while he collected only a just compensation for his inspiration and legal services.

Leave Over Easter

Most of the principals in the trial left Detroit to spend Easter Sunday with their families. Sapiro departed for New York while Sen. James A. Reed chief of Ford's counsel, left for Washington. Ford himself, meanwhile, continued in seclusion at his Dearborn estate recuperating from injuries suffered in an auto crash three week ago. He was reported moving about his room but still too ill to leave his sick chamber.

The Kentucky situation was looked upon by the Ford forces as their "big card." Thus far, the jury was told by Reed that fifteen of the 22 directors of the Sapiro Burley co-operative were financially interested in warehouses, which were later bought by the cooperative. Ralph M. Barker it was shown purchased the warehouses, and Reed charged he bought two for the co-operative from himself. In each instance said Reed Sapiro wrote the contracts of purchase and approved the deal.

Jury Must Decide

Next week Reed will attempt to bring out that the purchase prices were exorbitant. Sapiro however, who instructed Barker to "deal with the utmost fairness to warehouse owners", and "err, if at all on the side of the owner" in buying warehouses.

This, course was dictated because the directors felt they were buying "good will" as well as properties. The jury will have to decide ultimately whether the prices paid were exorbitant under these conditions.

The trial will resume Monday with Sapiro back on the stand for his fourteenth day of cross examination.

AUTO LICENSES FOR 1927 WILL TOTAL 14,000

Number Issued This Year Will Exceed 1926 Figure by 2,000, Report

Automobile licenses issued in Marion County this year will total more than 14,000, an increase of approximately 2,000 over the 1926 record, according to figures obtained today at the office of the Marion Auto Club.

The annual spring sale of license plates, which is expected to reach a total of 4,000 within the next few weeks, is now under way at the auto club office at Hotel Harding.

This will take the year's sales up to the 14,000 mark, the highest in the history of the county. Approximately 10,000 sets of license plates were sold in the county during the opening sale in December and January.

Many of the plates being sold at this time are taken out by motor car owners who leave their machines in storage during the winter months and so do not apply for licenses until weather conditions become settled early in the spring. It is estimated that more than 2,000 motorists in the county follow this custom.

Business Brisk

A large percentage of the license sales at this time are also being made to owners of new cars. This indicates that business is brisk with local motor car dealers, Mrs. Gallagher, secretary of the auto club, stated today.

The state registrar of motor vehicles sent 14,000 sets of license plates to Marion County as its apportionment for 1927 and it is expected that this supply will be entirely gone before June 1.

10,000 Sent Here

Ten thousand of the 14,000 sets were sent to the Marion Auto Club office, the county's central distribution point, and 4,000 to agencies in several villages. The distributors in the villages have issued practically their entire supply and 1,800 sets remain on hand at the auto club office.

At the rate applications for licenses are now coming in, the 1,800 will soon be disposed of, the club secretary stated today. An average of about 90 sets of plates have been sold daily during the last week and this average is expected to increase. Last Saturday the sale totalled 97.

FIREMEN SAVE ROOF OF HOME ON BUCYRUS-RD

Firemen from the No. 3 department were called shortly before 10 o'clock last night to the home of Mrs. Carl Merkle on the Bucyrus-rd. six miles north of the city, to extinguish a roof fire which had started from chimney sparks.

Neighbors of Mrs. Merkle formed a bucket brigade and prevented the flames from spreading while waiting for the city firemen to arrive. Damage to the roof amounted to only about $10.

Besides one's mode of speech, what one has of common sense is acquired in the home.

INTEREST IN AERONAUTICS TO ENJOY BOOM

Americans Joining Hands To Recapture Records for United States

Washington April 15—Americans—Americans — wealthy sportsmen and builders as well as army and navy fliers—have joined hands in a gigantic effort to recapture the world's air records for the United States.

"We feel sure that nearly every record that the United States has lost will be won back again before the end of the year," Porter H. Adams, president of the National Aeronautic Association said today.

More Feats Planned

With two records beaten in one day through the great endurance flight of Bert Acosta and Clarence Chamberlin at New York and the altitude record for C-2 seaplanes made by Lieut. George Henderson of the navy, Adams declared that the American public could be aroused by other great feats to be attempted soon.

"The National Aeronautic Association has been consulted with regard to many contemplated efforts to establish new world air records," said Adams. "These plans are confidential for the present but I expect 1927 to be a wonderful year for American aviation."

Navy fliers are known to be considering another Hawaiian flight to retrieve the heroic but memorable failure of Commander John Rodgers and his fellow airmen. It is possible that the flight may be made this year. Civilian air enthusiasts are said to be planning an American entry in the Schneider cup races to be held at either Italy or Spain September, to recover the laurels they lost last year at Norfolk, Va.

American supremacy in air records reached high pitch after the war but Europeans have been gradually taking records away until on March 1 the Federation Aeronautique Internationale credited the United States with but 11 out of 30 major records. The standing was France 33, Italy 21; United States 11, Switzerland 7, Germany, 4.

During the last year Italy and Germany have made great strides, aviation experts say. Since the fall of the French records are transferred to Germany.

Oratory is prone to suffer for substance.

You're always "going to" tomorrow" Isn't that brilliant?
